

His big role

Waving an American flag and dressed as Uncle Sam, Geza Gelfer walks down Capital Avenue in Springfield, Ill., Sunday during Lincolnfest celebration marking 207th anniversary of the nation's declaration of Independence. On his stills, the 5-foot-tall Gelfer towers 14 feet. A native of Hungary, he travels the United States portraying Uncle Sam.

Arafat gives in to squelch revolt

By SAMIRA KAWAR
United Press International

Yasser Arafat gave in Sunday to the demands of rebels in the Palestine Liberation Organization and a leader of the uprising said he was "optimistic" a breakthrough was imminent to end the 2-month-old mutiny.

"We are working together like one family," said Nimr Saleh, the chief political figure in the revolt, sitting underneath a picture of Arafat in his Damascus headquarters.

"The mediating delegation has offered ideas that will contribute to meeting our demands and we are working in that direction."

A six-member mediation team that Arafat sent met with Saleh beginning at 9 p.m. local time (noon MDT) and continued their deliberation into this morning.

"We are discussing the unity of the PLO in a brotherly spirit," said Khaled Fahoum, speaker of the Palestine National Council, and leader of the mediation team.

A source loyal to Arafat said the embattled guerrilla chief offered to stop one-man rule of the PLO, issue an unequivocal rejection of President Reagan's Middle East peace initiative and repudiate any contact with Israel.

It was believed that Saleh would have to transmit the details of the Arafat concessions to Abu Moussa, the military leader of the uprising, before a formal statement of approval could be made.

Abu Moussa, who began the rebellion in May, was in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley where new rocket and gun duels between rival Palestinians destroyed a rug factory in the town of Taanayel, causing an undetermined number of civilian injuries, state-run Beirut radio said.

In Jerusalem, a senior Israeli official said Prime Minister Menachem Begin intends to redeploy Israel's troops to more defensible lines in south Lebanon despite fears the move would lead to the permanent division of Lebanon.

In Tel Aviv, Secretary of State George Shultz said he would leave Monday to visit Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Israel and Syria but saw no real chance for a breakthrough on the withdrawal of Syrian troops from Lebanon.

Arafat, who was expelled June 24 from Damascus, also offered to sign a political and military alliance with Syria, which has supported the rebellion, the sources said.

Saleh said he was "optimistic" that all the rebels' demands would be met in further negotiations and that an agreement would preserve the PLO's armed presence in Lebanon so as to defeat the Israeli forces there.

The dissidents, who last week took control of most guerrilla positions in the Bekaa, began the revolt for fear Arafat wanted to withdraw the Palestinian fighters from Lebanon and participate in U.S.-led peace talks—rather than start a new war with Israel to create a Palestinian homeland.

Before the negotiations began, a source close to Arafat's team of mediators was doubtful the rebels would lay down their arms because he believed the militaries want to take over all of Arafat's bases in Lebanon and seek control of Fatah, the largest branch of the PLO.

White House drops probe into campaign book issue

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The White House has abandoned its own investigation of alleged 1980 Reagan campaign abuses to give the Justice Department—unquestioned jurisdiction, officials said Sunday.

The officials said White House counsel Fred Fielding has dropped his inquiry into how President Reagan's 1980 campaign aides obtained inside information from the Carter-White House.

The disclosure that the White House investigation had been terminated came only two days after deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters Fielding was "continuing to look into the matter."

Speakes said Sunday Fielding

"talked to a number of people" in connection with the search for any further campaign papers and is now advising people in the White House who may have information "to go directly to the Justice Department."

He also said Fielding "continues to assist and is keeping tabs." He said Fielding is keeping Reagan and staff briefed on the situation.

But under questioning, he said Reagan had not been briefed about the spreading controversy since the news conference.

The FBI is expected to begin interviewing top administration officials as early as this week. A House subcommittee also is investigating the case, sparked by a report the Reagan campaign obtained Jimmy Carter's briefing papers for his campaign debate with Reagan.

Fielding, who was a deputy to White House counsel John Dean during the Watergate scandal, had been serving as something of a liaison between the Justice Department and administration officials.

Speakes said a report that Fielding has sent the Justice Department a list of possible suspects in the briefing book case "was badly hyped." He said he was certain Fielding would make available to the department a list of people to whom he had talked but that they could not be considered "suspects."

Vagrant held in market fire

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A vagrant described by family members as "nuts" was arrested Sunday and charged, with dousing supermarket shoppers and employees with gasoline then setting them on fire.

Two people were killed and 16 injured, police said.

John William Ferry, 30, was jailed on charges of first-degree murder and first-degree arson in the incident Saturday night at a Winn-Dixie store.

No motive was given for the attack, but Hillsborough County Sheriff's Maj. Charles Fisher said: "The guy is a loner and he's a drifter. That plus the fact that he is very self-explanatory as to why he did it."

Ferry's father, John Ferry Sr., said his son recently started spray-painting cryptic messages on walls. One, painted on the wall where Ferry bought the gasoline police say he used in the grocery store, said, "Billy can't take any more. Fire Fire Fire."

"We feel he's the one," said Natalie

Bodine, a Hillsborough County sheriff's detective.

Bodine said the husky, mustachioed Ferry was identified by witnesses. He was arrested about a mile west of the store on foot Sunday and ordered held without bond.

Ferry had been arrested three times previously on charges ranging from robbery to issuing worthless checks, but was never convicted, police said.

Family members, who live in the Tampa area but seldom saw Ferry, said the man has a history of mental problems.

Ferry said his son was a bright, hard-working laborer making $55 a week, with Phillips-Borg Co. in Tampa until a tugboat accident six years ago. Ferry was smashed onto a metal runway when a cable slipped.

"We've been trying to get him help for five years and time and time again, but nobody will help. We took him to the county mental health institution and the psychiatrist said he was fine," the elder Ferry said.

JOHN WILLIAM FERRY
Murder, arson charges

Oregon town citizens content with mandatory gun ownership

CHILLOQUIN, Ore. (UPI) — A year after the City Council voted with many a small community across the nation to require heads of households to keep firearms in their homes, no one has been arrested for failure to own a gun in Chiloquin.

For the 770 town residents, many retired and living quietly in the wooded hills of Southern Oregon, the ordinance passed unanimously on June 14, 1982, has had no effect at all, except that many people seem glad they have it.

Chiloquin Mayor Lauren Campbell said council members at the time were concerned with a rising tide of gun-control sentiment throughout the country, and wanted some statutory protection for the right to bear arms in their town.

"These here gun control enthusiasts wanted to take the whole thing away," he said. Chiloquin joined other communities in following the lead of Kennecott, Ore., in making home ownership of guns mandatory, which followed in response to a pioneering law banning the ownership of handguns in Morton Grove, Ill.

"Most people around here, especially the natives, had guns already," including himself, Campbell said. And the few who didn't seemed to agree with the reasons for the law.

"There were a few people who more or less objected to it," Campbell said, but at a town hall meeting held after the law went into effect, nobody remembers anybody speaking out against it except for a couple of people from out of the town.

The American Civil Liberties Union officially opposes the Chiloquin law.

"The Chiloquin law is as much a violation of rights as it is to take away people's guns," said Dave Vidanque, associate director of the ACLU in nearby Eugene.

Fidante said the law is an "over-reaction" to gun control, because the Oregon Constitution "clearly" guarantees the right to bear arms for self defense.

Santa Fe Ryan lives in the town and doesn't own a gun. "But I've got to go along with the side that says (the law) is OK. I don't like the idea of more and more government control. People do have the right to bear arms," she said.

Projected Idaho reactor remains up in air

By HAL BERNSTON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Sen. James McClure says he is convinced that the United States should develop a plant to produce weapons-grade plutonium and tritium, a plant he hopes to see located in Idaho.

But McClure's congressional colleagues on the House Armed Services Committee have taken a more skeptical view of the nation's need for the estimated $4 billion to $16 billion that it would take to build what has become known as the new production reactor—NPR for short.

In a May budget action, the House committee, chaired by Rep. Mel Price, D-Ill., slashed study funds for the NPR facility from the $5 million proposed by the Reagan administration to $2 million. The program's final funding level will depend on what action is taken by the Senate.

Department of Energy spokesman Phil Keif says the funds approved by Congress will be used for further research to determine when the NPR facility should be developed. Keif says the study may take more than a year to complete.

McClure says that the tritium that would be produced by the NPR is needed to maintain the current level of the nation's nuclear weapons arsenal. And, the best place to put this facility is in Idaho, McClure has announced repeatedly.

To back up McClure's statements, his aides point to a Nov. 18, 1982 report by a Department of Energy advisory panel. This study concluded that "an NPR should be constructed to assure an adequate supply of strategic nuclear materials in the 1990s and beyond."

The report examined three potential sites for the NPR, ranking the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory in eastern Idaho a distant third, behind South Carolina and Washington facilities.

Despite the report's rankings, McClure, who chairs the powerful Senate Energy and Environment Committee, has continued to lobby hard for locating the NPR at INEL. Placing the NPR in the Great Salt Lake, McClure says, "would be good for the country and good for Idaho."

But a House Armed Services Committee report, released May 19, concluded that there are no compelling national security reasons to build the NPR in Idaho or anywhere else at this time.

The report said that Defense Department research and development programs already under way may allow existing facilities to produce all the weapons-grade plutonium and tritium that the nation will require for future defense needs. And future arms limitation treaties, the report added, may make it unnecessary to produce large numbers of new weapons in the 1990s.

The House committee, after holding a series of March hearings and sifting through available information, concluded that an "reactor facility could supply most of the nuclear materials needed for the weapons program. This '11' reactor is scheduled to begin operation later this year at the Savannah River federal facility, outside of Charleston, S.C."

The report said that additional weapons-grade nuclear materials needed for the "special isotope separation process" under development. This process would upgrade plutonium now produced in Defense Department facilities to the point where it could be used for nuclear weapons production.

House committee members said in the report that they also were concerned by the uncertain NPR construction cost estimates, which range from a low of $4 billion to a high of $16 billion.

"Congress has already spent $300 million to get the '11' reactor into production," said one House Armed Services Committee aide, who requested to remain anonymous. "And we

(the committee) don't really believe that there is any need at this time to jump start and make a new commitment that could cost $10 to $12 billion."

"And if Congress doesn't put up the dollars, it won't be built," said the aide. The Savannah River reactor that is expected to produce the bulk of new weapons-grade material in the near future is a 1950-vintage facility, with outdated pollution-control systems that have been brought back to life with the aid of $300 million in federal funds.

But as the Department of Energy was prepared to recommission the refurbished reactor, it has become the subject of a major political controversy in South Carolina. McClure claims that the "11" reactor controversy has eased a pall over South Carolina's chances of hosting the NPR facility.

The controversy began last fall when state officials and environmental groups became

Reagans

President upbeat in Fourth of July message

By NORMAN D. SANDLER
United Press International

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — President Reagan looked ahead to the nation's 207th birthday Sunday and declared he has "never been more convinced" that pressing national problems can and will be solved.

With characteristic optimism and an accent on patriotism, Reagan observed the Fourth of July a day early by saying, "America is still a land of heroes with all the courage and love of freedom there ever was before."

"And that's our best hope for the future," he said in a Fourth of July message released by the White House.

Reagan planned to observe the holiday in seclusion at his ranch in the Santa Ynez mountains where he and his wife, Nancy, are nearing the end of a four-day stay.

Reagan plans to address the American Federation of Teachers convention in Los Angeles Tuesday before returning to Washington that night.

In his holiday message, Reagan said America's "body and spirit have never been stronger."

"Don't let anyone tell us that America's best days are behind her, that the American spirit has been lost," he said.

"I've never felt stronger than I do now that our people are coming together and the America is moving forward again. I've never been more convinced that fundamental problems of the economy, education and national defense — neglected for too many years — are now being addressed and can be solved."

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Adams said Reagan spent a typical day at the ranch Sunday, riding horses in the morning and tending to chores under sunny skies in the afternoon.

Reagan, who has described his visits to the ranch as a "tonic" to the pressures of Washington, will return in mid-August for a three-week stay that will give him time to consider a re-election bid.

Michael Reagan: Thumbs up a start

Michael scrubs boat speed try

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Mechanical problems forced President Reagan's son Michael to scrub his attempt to break the powerboat speed record for a Miami-to-New York run Sunday after covering about a third of the 1,257-mile route.

Reagan sped out of Miami's Biscayne Bay in his 38-foot Scarab speedboat at 70 mph a few seconds after 10 p.m. EDT. At 5 a.m. he arrived about 400 miles north of Miami at a shrimp boat waiting with fuel 100 miles off St. Simons, Ga., said Michael Fleming of Reagan's party.

"At 8:30 a.m. (MDT) we got the word the mission was canceled," Fleming said. "There are no further details regarding the mechanical problems."

There also was no word on whether Reagan would attempt the trip again.

The president's 38-year-old son, a veteran speedboat endurance racer, was attempting to break Robert Magoon's 1974 record of 22 hours, 41 minutes, 15 seconds for the Miami-New York run.

At the same time as Reagan's run, Magoon tried to better his own record. But he covered only 125 miles before mechanical problems beset his heavier, diesel-powered craft and he was forced to limp home to Miami.

The trip canceled Sunday — dubbed "The Freedom Run" — was to raise money for restoring the Statue of Liberty.

'Never felt better' says president of health

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — President Reagan, 72, said in an interview published Sunday that he "never felt better" and suggested his robust nature could carry him through a second term.

Reagan told the Los Angeles Times, however, that he is not yet ready to announce his intention to run for re-election in 1984.

The nation's oldest president told the newspaper he foresees boredom if he retires to his mountain-top ranch north of Santa Barbara compared to the rewards of his present job.

Some evenings, he said, he leaves the Oval Office "feeling 10 feet tall."

"I have to tell you I never felt better in my life. I think I feel better now than I felt several years ago," he said.

Asked if he wanted to keep doing what he is doing now, or retire to his ranch, Reagan said:

"My mind is centered on things that I believe in deeply. And if I could help to do something about them, that's what I want to do."

Reagan said he does not think a second term would materially affect his natural good health.

"The wonderful thing is when you get to this age you are often known as one of the survivors," he said.

In reviewing his health, Reagan acknowledged a worsening hearing loss in his right ear — the result of a Hollywood-shoot-out years ago — and a hereditary condition that has caused a "gradual curling" of the small finger on his left hand.

Asked if he wanted to keep doing what he is doing now, or retire to his ranch, Reagan said:

"My mind is centered on things that I believe in deeply. And if I could help to do something about them, that's what I want to do."

Reagan said he does not think a second term would materially affect his natural good health.

"The wonderful thing is when you get to this age you are often known as one of the survivors," he said.

In reviewing his health, Reagan acknowledged a worsening hearing loss in his right ear — the result of a Hollywood-shoot-out years ago — and a hereditary condition that has caused a "gradual curling" of the small finger on his left hand.

Asked if he wanted to keep doing what he is doing now, or retire to his ranch, Reagan said:

"My mind is centered on things that I believe in deeply. And if I could help to do something about them, that's what I want to do."

Reagan said he does not think a second term would materially affect his natural good health.

"The wonderful thing is when you get to this age you are often known as one of the survivors," he said.

In reviewing his health, Reagan acknowledged a worsening hearing loss in his right ear — the result of a Hollywood-shoot-out years ago — and a hereditary condition that has caused a "gradual curling" of the small finger on his left hand.

Asked if he wanted to keep doing what he is doing now, or retire to his ranch, Reagan said:

"My mind is centered on things that I believe in deeply. And if I could help to do something about them, that's what I want to do."

Reagan said he does not think a second term would materially affect his natural good health.

More money needed to clean up wastes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's $1.6 billion cleanup fund can only "make a dent" in the nation's toxic waste dumps. Environmental Protection Agency chief William Ruckelshaus said in an interview published Sunday.

Ruckelshaus told U.S. News & World Report more money will be needed — "No question about that."

He said the cleanup of toxic chemical dumps is among the most serious environmental problems facing the nation, "particularly where they pose a threat to human health and drinking-water supplies."

But he said the government's $1.6 billion Superfund cleanup program is inadequate to meet the problem.

Said Ruckelshaus: "It's an enormous problem, that's true. I flew over northern New Jersey in a helicopter the other day, I couldn't believe how many drums there were down there in abandoned alleys, backyards, everywhere. "But there is $1.6 billion in the Superfund. That'll make a dent in the problem."

"The law requires owners of the dumps — if we can find them — to pay for the cleanup costs. We won't be able to recover all the costs by any means, but we can recover some. But we'll need more money, no question about that."

Install a hot tub—without getting soaked!

HOT TUB DISCOUNT
LOAN

Relax! A Timeway Simple

Interest Home Improvement Loan helps you SAVE on the project you pick!

Anyone can save with discounted rates on a Timeway Simple Interest Home Improvement Loan — First Security deposit customers save even more. Make your home improvement now, while our money's on sale.

First Security Banks Members FDIC LENDER

Save with these 4th of July film processing specials!

Smith's Coupon must accompany film

Offer expires July 9, 1983

12 EXPOSURE COLOR-PRINT FILM

Develop & print Kodak, Fuji, Focal, Fotomat, or private label C-41 process films.

$1.88

VALUABLE COUPON

Smith's Coupon must accompany film

Offer expires July 9, 1983

15 EXPOSURE DISC-COLOR-PRINT FILM

Develop & print any disc film.

$2.29

VALUABLE COUPON

Smith's Coupon must accompany film

Offer expires July 9, 1983

24 EXPOSURE COLOR-PRINT FILM

Develop & print Kodak, Fuji, Focal, Fotomat, or private label C-41 process films.

$3.31

VALUABLE COUPON

Smith's Coupon must accompany film

Offer expires July 9, 1983

36 EXPOSURE COLOR-PRINT FILM

Develop & print Kodak, Fuji, Focal, Fotomat, or private label C-41 process films.

$4.77

VALUABLE COUPON

AVAILABLE AT ALL SMITH'S FOOD & DRUG LOCATIONS EFFECTIVE THROUGH JULY 9, 1983

The Times-News

733-0931 ☆ 733-0931 ☆ 733-0931

"NO DEBATE REBATE"

Smith's will refund the price of any print you are not completely satisfied with. NO DEBATE.

Opinion

The Times-News

William E. Howard
Publisher
Stephen Hartgen
Managing Editor

William C. Blake
Advertising Manager
Jany Hoyt
Circulation Manager

The members of the editorial board and writers of editorials are Stephen Hartgen and William E. Howard.

Pope knows Poland

Even the pope is not infallible on Polish politics, but his judgment is better than anyone else's. He was a priest, bishop and cardinal in Krakow for 40 years before becoming pope, fighting the endless battle with the communists for his country's soul. It is ridiculous to second-guess him. If he came to an understanding with Gen. Jaruzelski, it was certainly the best possible deal.

Jaruzelski has to walk a tightrope between his restive citizens and his masters in the Kremlin. The pope understands perfectly how far a communist government can be pushed, and the dangers of pushing it too far.

If the regime will make concessions to the pope, it dare not make to Solidarity labor leader Lech Walesa, then Walesa should step aside for a while. As the pope told him, half of success is patience.

—New York Daily News

Volcker too powerful

After the president, the most powerful man in the country, pundits are wont to say, is Paul A. Volcker, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

The reason that Mr. Volcker, who was just reappointed to this post by President Reagan, is given his thoroughly unofficial designation is only partly because neither the Supreme Court nor the House is taking a leadership position in U.S. public life at this time.

If the Democrats (or the Republicans, for that matter) become serious about reducing deficits and thereby heading off the threat of future inflation, Mr. Volcker's anti-inflationary mission will be considerably simplified. He—or his successor—will revert to the gray anonymity of most Reserve Board chairmen. That would be a highly desirable turn of events: An unelected banker should not be the second most powerful person in a democracy.

—The Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, Mass.

Why not advertise?

When the Treasurer of the United States herself admits it, thenews is enough to make Yankee Doodle feel dispirited and fall off his pony. The $1 has so little value that it's not worth counterfeiting.

That's what she said, Angela M. Buchanan, whose signature is on all currency of recent vintage.

So, because the phoney-money guys won't even bother with this lowest-priced Federal Reserve Note, Mrs. Buchanan suggests a cheaper way of printing the back of it: this saving more than $5 million a year in printing costs.

Humph! One assumes that the back of the bill would continue to announce "In God We Trust" and that the two faces of the Great Seal of the United States would remain intact. On the other hand, perhaps these items would be squeezed into half the surface, leaving space for remunerative advertising: "Do Your Shopping With U.S. Treasury Certificates" or "Bargain Coal Leases for Sale at Interior Department."

—The (Providence, R.I.) Journal-Bulletin

WE CUT A DEAL—
THEY'LL ALLOW US TO SET UP A DEVELOPMENT BANK IN POLAND...

WE CUT A DEAL—
THEY GET THE BANK
AND THE U.S. DROPS
THE SANCTIONS...

WHO GOT MY WATCH?

Letters

Teach English language first

Our secretary of education, Terrell Bell, was formerly a teacher of our local school. He was teaching selcge and was a coach. He was a good teacher.

Now he advocates two years of study of foreign languages in school. I do not agree with him. Let us first teach the English language, so that all can read and write. The postal service in New York is giving people numbers, for the addresses are not legible. No one can read them. Our prisons are full of poor souls who cannot read and write, so cannot get a job to earn a living; so they have to steal in order to live. They are frustrated and turn to drugs and drink.

We are guilty for allowing such a system of education to take over 70 percent of the tax money, yet turn out illiterate students. We must see that control of education is put in the hands of the people, as Reagan promised to do.

If a child is taught the soundings of letters with phonics, they can sound out any word by the second grade. They become good readers.

The present method requires each child to memorize a certain number of words each year. Then, when they see a new word, they cannot pronounce it until some one tells them what it is. This is the reason why the "course of study" must be changed. Every letter must be sounded; for instance, "h" is like a chair. A fat man sits down in it and puffs with open mouth, and we hear the sound of "h." Letter "c" is like a snake and makes the same hissing sound: sometimes, most often, it makes the sound like "k," which is in key.

This is easily taught and makes for perfection in reading. Let us see that everyone who works in education is elected by the people, not appointed. Let us abolish the thousands who are not teaching, yet are getting from $20,000 to $50,000 a year. There is plenty of money now without raising taxes. Let us again have our freedom. All expenditures should be published, even every box of chalk, as it used to be.

Our Legislature demanded an audit, but Evans vetoed it. Why?
GENEVIEVE UTT
Eden

Cloggers appreciate support

We would like to thank all of the people who supported the Sawtooth Country Cloggers by coming to our show Saturday, June 25, in the City Park. It was really a thrill to see so many people there. We would also like to thank the people of Magic Valley for their great generosity in donating money to the group. The donations received will be a tremendous help to the group on our tour of southern California where we will be performing at Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm.

We appreciate the publicity for the event which The Times-News, KMYT and the radio stations gave us. It was gratifying to see so many people interested in the clogging group, and we know we wouldn't have been able to attract them without the help of the media.

We are grateful to the following merchants for donating merchandise or services for the raffle: Collector's Post, Sherwood's Sports Center, Christian Bookstore, Arby's, Taco Time, Bonnie's Salon, The Clip, Valley Schwinn Cycles, Wear House 222, Blacker Furniture, Valley Brake, John's Sharpening Service, Sage Gymnastics, Bojangles, Donnelly Sports, Jensen's Jewelers, Crowley's Pharmacy, McDonald's Restaurant, Slim's Gas and the Hydrotube.

Again, Magic Valley, thank you for your generous support of your local talent. We will do our very best to represent you and the state of Idaho in the best way possible.

ED & WICKIE AUSTIN
Directors, The Sawtooth
Country Cloggers

Quality of life to go up despite cost

There was a great deal of talk in the House of Representatives during the week before our 207th birthday about the quality of life in the United States.

That isn't a bad thing to consider as a nation celebrates its birthday.

They didn't start out to talk about the quality of life, or plan it. That's just the way debate goes in the House.

They had planned to debate, and were in fact debating, one of those annual appropriations bills that Congress is always trying to pass and the president is always threatening to veto. This one was $2.1 billion for the Department of the Interior and related agencies. It was those related agencies that got them going on the quality of life.

The agencies include the likes of the Smithsonian Institution, the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities. In 1983, a billion bill within an $250 billion budget, it's hard to get emotional about $40 million—but they managed.

The trigger for the outpouring of eloquence about the quality of life in America was Rep. John Patrick Hiller, Republican of Indiana. Hiller offered an amendment that would have added the quality of life to the arts and humanities by $40 million. He pointed out that a $200 billion deficit is made up of many $40 million items.

He was not, he hastened to assure his listeners and the folks back home in Indiana, against the federal government supporting the arts and humanities. He wasn't trying to reduce that support, but merely trying to keep it at last year's level. The House Appropriations Committee had increased it 15 percent over last year, an ineffective way of fighting deficits.

Otis
Pike

You would have thought the gentleman from Indiana had threatened to tear the flag from the Capitol dome. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., is the chairman of the subcommittee that handles appropriations for the Interior Department; and the House's chief defender of the arts and humanities. He is smooth, smooth, smooth.

Yates spoke in deep sorrow. "I always knew that some day a motion would come to gut the appropriation for arts and humanities, but I never conceived that the motion would come from a member from the state that has such an outstanding center for the arts as the University of Indiana," said the congressman.

Zap. With his opening sentence, Yates has Hiller attacking all that is beautiful back home. If Hiller had been from Mississippi, Yates would have been grieving for Ole Miss.

Members liked the jump on Hiller. "This amendment is in fact an attack on the quality of life in this country," said Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill.

Rep. Elliott H. DeWitts, D-Ga., invoked "the very quality of life and civilization," as well as the inscription on the Kennedy Center to the effect that after the dust of centuries has settled over our cities we will be remembered for our commitment to the human spirit.

Hiller found only two supporters. When Yates said we spend less per capita than any government in the Western world to support the arts and humanities, Rep. Ralph Regula, R-Ohio, pointed out that our government supports them indirectly through tax deductions for contributions.

Yates graciously conceded that he had tried to find out how much U.S. citizens contribute to the arts and humanities each year, but the Internal Revenue Service didn't know. He could afford to be gracious; he had the votes.

Regula said that through federal, state and local governments and private contributions, U.S. citizens contribute more to the arts and humanities than any citizens in the Western world. He provided the same statistics the IRS did.

Said Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., "We are lectured daily, hourly, by the minute by the other side on our deficits. Is there no place in the budget where we can hold the line?"

By a vote of 150 to 271, the House trounced Hiller's amendment. As we start our 208th year, it is comforting to know that even if we can't pay for it, the quality of our life is going up 15 percent.

Otis Pike, a former congressman, writes for Newhouse News Service.

Cross-country travel enlightening, but avoid North Dakota

The time has come to pump my pet project. What I propose is this: a cross-country drive from Idaho to the Midwest state of my origin. Each year, my family travels back to the old stomping grounds to give my wife a chance to visit relatives and me a chance to check in with my parole officer.

The voyage covers about 4,000 miles of the northern plains, which gives me a lot of time to observe and cogitate. And every year, I return with the same conclusion—the idea I promote here:

I will not rest until North Dakota has been turned into a penal colony, at risk of giving penal colonies a bad name.

All the other states along my route have something to offer. Take Minnesota, for instance. On this trip I chanced upon a particularly spirited exchange between two groups of chainaw partisans. The Janssars crowd eventually bested the Stihl devotees, but not before a round of repartee that did Minnesota proud.

Dick
Manning

In the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, opportunities for culturally uplifting experiences abound. There, an inquiry as to the availability of diesel fuel will bring the following response: "Ya, you bet. Eh," which I eventually learned translates as the affirmative. It's worth driving 4,000 miles to be able to behold that sort of command of the language.

But no such occurrences serve to recommend the great state of North Dakota.

For those of you who have never suffered a drive of its breadth, consider the following:

To begin with, the state is painfully, originally, depressingly and inexorably flat. You can cross its western border, gaze to the east and clearly see the opposite border, some 350 miles distant.

It am told that long distance telephone service was slow in developing in North Dakota, simply because it was not needed. If someone in Bismarck wanted to get a message to someone in Fargo, about 150 miles away, he would simply wave at him. This system of sign language was an added advantage, because most North Dakotans do not know how to speak.

Granted, most of the state's vast expanses are broken up by miles and miles of lush vegetation arching to tusk, but the bad news is the vegetation is wheat.

The uninformed might think that such a barren, boring land would produce a boring people. The uninformed would be right on the money.

A back that contention with the use to which the people have made of the only two hills I could find in the state.

One of the mounds, of about the size Idaho folks would use for a flower bed, is at New Salem. Enconced atop it is a giant concrete cow.

The other is at Jamestown. It is the home of a giant concrete buffalo. What would you conclude about a state full of people who have decided hills must be topped with outsize likenesses of ungulates?

I suppose I understand the cow, given the state's unimpaired agricultural leanings. I suspect the favored evening pastime around New Salem is to pile the wife and kids into the family combine, head-down to the pasture. Free for a round of Sno-cones and then go suck on them while beholding the saintly presence of the hallowed Holstein.

But the buffalo only serves as a monument to a creature wiped out by the North Dakotans ancestors. They killed the Buffalo to feed the man who built the railroads that brought in the cows to replace all the dead buffalo. The only reason for a monument to such a system logic is to acknowledge its contribution to the advertising industry and the Department of Defense.

My visit to North Dakota served to bolster my gratitude in inhabiting a more reasonable state. If you discount the presence of George Hansen (and I basked in that sense of superiority as I sped across North Dakota displaying license plates emblazoned with "Famous Potatoes.")

Dick Manning is news editor of The Times-News.

Rebels claim U.S. advisers lead fight

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Rebels charged Sunday that U.S. military advisers have assumed "direct leadership" in the fight against them, and the country's church leader said that outside forces were destroying El Salvador.

The archbishop of San Salvador, Arturo Rivera y Damas, said in his Sunday sermon that foreign "interests... have sought the path of arms and violence to solve our problems."

"It would be better to say that the annihilation of our people, not the solution, is being planned from outside our country," the archbishop told worshippers in San Salvador's Metropolitan Cathedral.

He did not name any country, and there was no indication if he was referring to the United States or neighboring Nicaragua which has been accused by Washington of aiding the Salvadoran rebels.

The clandestine guerrilla Radio Venceremos said a "pacification plan" being carried out by the Salvadoran army in eastern Usulután and San Vicente provinces was being designed and run by American military men.

The plan is patterned after one used by the United States in the Mekong Delta of South Vietnam during the Indochina war.

"North American advisers, unhappy with the high command's lack of ability, have begun to assume direct leadership in the war the puppet army is carrying out against the revolutionary forces," the radio said.

The 55 military advisers in El Salvador are under orders not to participate in combat and the U.S. Embassy, which prefers to call the men "trainers," says they are forbidden to direct Salvadoran army combat missions even from safe base camps.

Rivera y Damas, in his sermon, also blamed "excesses of fanaticism" for 93 recent deaths recorded by the church both on and off the battlefield and for 23 kidnappings.

Nicaragua says Costa Rica aiding guerrillas

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua, suggesting Costa Rica might be collaborating with guerrillas opposed to the Sandinista government, charged Sunday that 150 Costa Rican-based rebels besieged a Nicaraguan town.

"It is inexplicable how so many men with the amount and type of arms they have could have concentrated in Costa Rican territory and invaded our country without the Costa Rican authorities knowing," a ministry statement said.

The statement, quoted by the official newspaper, Barricada, said rebel forces had laid siege to the supply town of San Juan del Norte, about 180 miles southeast of Managua near the Caribbean coast.

The first attack came Tuesday and was launched in boats across the San Juan River, which forms part of the border between the two countries, the newspaper quoted the ministry as saying.

The Defense Ministry said two government soldiers were killed in combat but gave no rebel casualty figures.

The Nicaraguan army said that by week's end the attack, including heavy mortar barrages, was being repulsed.

But in Costa Rica the rebels of the Democratic Revolutionary Alliance — known as ARDE — claimed they controlled the town of about 5,000 people and had captured about 30 Nicaraguan government reserve troops.

The Nicaraguan Defense Ministry did not confirm or deny the claim in its statement.

Managua's leftist regime, which came to power four years ago in a widely backed revolution, now is fighting several thousand U.S.-backed rebels near its northern border with Honduras.

Nuclear foes fail to alter Kohl stance

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl said Sunday, on the eve of his four-day trip to the Soviet Union, he will tell Kremlin leader Yuri Andropov West Germany will deploy new U.S. missiles if the Soviets refuse to make concessions in the Geneva arms talks.

"I will try to make clear that we all want peace and that I come as a man of compromise and not conflict," he said.

Kohl has made plain in a series of statements that while he wants good relations with Moscow, West Germany is a firm member of the Western alliance and will not be moved by anti-nuclear "peace" demonstrations.

Kohl flies to Moscow today for the first meeting of a NATO head of government with Andropov since the latter succeeded Leonid Brezhnev as Soviet leader. He will be accompanied by Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher.

It was considered the most important German-Soviet contact since Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's first chancellor, broke the ice in relations with the Soviets in 1955.

Liechtenstein ruler steps down

VADUZ, Liechtenstein (UPI) — Prince Franz Josef II, Europe's longest reigning monarch, announced he will step down from Liechtenstein's throne next spring after 44 years.

At a concert Saturday night, the 76-year-old prince designated his son, Crown Prince Hans Adam, 38, as his successor, but a government spokesman said Franz Josef would remain titular head of state.

They Liechtenstein is only 61 square miles of mountains sandwiched between Switzerland and Austria with a population of about 31,000.

Franz Josef, the 12th Liechtenstein on the throne since his Austrian ancestors bought the land around 1700, has ruled since March 1938 — longer than any living monarch except Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING
PHONE 733-0931

RED CROSS
Bloodmobile
BLOOD
DRAWING
Wednesday & Thursday

July 6 July 7
2 pm to 6 pm 11 pm to 3 pm

Special need for types O negative and O positive blood.

Presbyterian Church
209 5th Ave. North

DON PIEPERS 4th of July Specials

ALL BRANDS OF POP

$1.69

a 6 pack

BUDWEISER

$4.89

Reg. & Lite
12 pack

COORS

$4.89

Reg. & Lite
12 pack

Sale Prices Good thru July 11th

OPEN 24 HOURS

Everyday

Gas, Propane, Diesel & Convenience Store

DON PIEPERS

240 Addison Ave. W.

Newspapers. So many ways to go

There are few limitations on what an advertiser can do in newspapers. Space choices range from one column by one inch up through full pages, double trucks, special inserts. There's black and white or color. Long copy, impact graphics. Sampling. Mail-back devices. Selective penetration or total market coverage. What you need is what we've got. Call a Times-News advertising representative or Bill Blake, Advertising Director. (208) 733-0931.

The Times-News

NEWSPAPER POWER. GO FOR IT.

Opinion

The Times-News

William E. Howard
Publisher
Stephen Hartgen
Managing Editor

William C. Blake
Advertising Manager
Jenny Hoyt
Circulation Manager

The members of the editorial board and writers of editorials are Stephen Hartgen and William E. Howard.

Pope knows Poland

Even the pope is not infallible on Polish politics, but his judgment is better than anyone else's. He was a priest, bishop and cardinal in Krakow for 40 years before becoming pope, fighting the endless battle with the communists for his country's soul. It is ridiculous to second-guess him. If he came to an understanding with Gen. Jaruzelski, it was certainly the best possible deal.

Jaruzelski has to walk a tightrope between his restive citizens and his masters in the Kremlin. The pope understands perfectly how far a communist government can be pushed, and the dangers of pushing it too far.

If the regime will make concessions to the pope it dare not make to Solidarity labor leader Lech Walesa, then Walesa should step aside for a while. As the pope told him, half of success is patience.

New York Daily News

Volcker too powerful

After the president, the most powerful man in the country, pundits are wont to say, is Paul A. Volcker, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

The reason that Mr. Volcker, who was just reappointed to this post by President Reagan, is given his thoroughly unofficial designation is only partly because neither the Supreme Court nor the House is taking a leadership position in U.S. public life at this time.

If the Democrats (or the Republicans, for that matter) become serious about reducing deficits and thereby heading off the threat of future inflation, Mr. Volcker's anti-inflationary mission will be considerably simplified. He — or his successor — will revert to the gray anonymity of most Reserve Board chairmen. That would be a highly desirable turn of events: An unelected banker should not be the second most powerful person in a democracy.

—The Berkshire Eagle, Pittsfield, Mass.

Why not advertise?

When the Treasurer of the United States herself admits it, the news is enough to make Yankee Doodle feel dispirited and fall off his pony. The $1 has so little value that it's not worth counterfeiting.

That's what she said: Angela M. Buchanan, whose signature is on all currency of recent vintage.

So, because the phoney-money guys won't even bother with this lowest-priced Federal Reserve Note, Mrs. Buchanan suggests a cheaper way of printing the back of it, this saving more than $5 million a year in printing costs.

Humph! One assumes that the back of the bill would continue to announce "In God We Trust" and that the two faces of the Great Seal of the United States would remain intact. On the other hand, perhaps these items would be squeezed into half the surface, leaving space for remunerative advertising: "Do Your Shopping With U.S. Treasury Certificates" or "Bargain Coal Leases for Sale at Interior Department."

—The (Providence, R.I.) Journal-Bulletin

Cross-country travel enlightening, but avoid North Dakota

The time has come to pump my pet project. What prompted this shameless promotion was recent completion of my annual drive from Idaho to the Midwestern state of my origin. Each year, my family travels back to the old stomping grounds to give my wife a chance to visit relatives and me a chance to check in with my parole officer.

The voyage covers about 4,000 miles of the northern plains, which gives me a lot of time to observe and cogitate. And every year, I return with the same conclusion: The idea I promote here:

I will not rest until North Dakota has been turned into a penal colony, at risk of giving penal colonies a bad name.

All the other states along my route have something to offer. Take Minnesota, for instance. On this trip I chanced upon a particularly spirited exchange between two groups of chainsaw partisans. The Jonsared crowd eventually bested the Stihl devotees, but not before a round of repartee that did Minnesota proud.

Dick Manning

In the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, opportunities for culturally uplifting experiences abound. There, an inquiry as to the availability of diesel fuel will bring the following response: "Ya, you bet. Eh," which I eventually learned translates as the affirmative. It's worth driving 4,000 miles to be able to behold that sort of comradery of the language.

But no such occurrences serve to recommend the great state of North Dakota.

For those of you who have never suffered a drive of its breadth, consider the following:

To begin with, the state is painfully criminally, depressingly and inexorably flat. You can cross its western border, gaze to the east and clearly see the opposite border, some 350 miles distant.

I am told that long distance telephone service was slow in developing in North Dakota, simply because it was not needed. If someone in Bismarck wanted to get a message to someone in Fargo, about 150 miles away, he would simply wave at him. This system of sign language was an added advantage, because most North Dakotans do not know how to speak.

Granted, most of the state's vast expanses are broken up by miles and miles of lush vegetation reaching to the sky, but the bad news is the vegetation is wheat.

The uninformed might think that such a barren, boring land would produce a boring people. The uninformed would be right on the money.

I back that contention with the use to which the people have made of the only two hills I could find in the state.

One of the mounds, of about the size Idaho folk would use for a flower bed, is at New Salem. Enshrined atop it is a giant concrete cow.

The other is at Jamestown. It is the home of giant concrete buffalo. What would you conclude about a state full of people who have decided hills must be topped with outsize likenesses of ungulates?

I suppose I understand the cow, given the state's unnatural agricultural leanings. I suspect the favored evening pastime around New Salem is to pile the wife and kids into the family combine, head down to the Tastee Freeze for a round of Sno-cones and then go suck on them while beholding the salinity presence of the hallowed Holstein.

But the buffalo only serves as a monument to a creature wiped out by the North Dakotans' ancestors. They killed the buffalo to feed the men who built the railroads that brought in the cows to replace all the dead buffalo. The only reason for a monument to such a system logic is to acknowledge its contribution to the advertising industry and the Department of Defense.

My visit to North Dakota served to bolster my gratitude in inhabiting a more reasonable state. If you discount the presence of George Hansen, and I based in that sense of superiority as I sped across North Dakota displaying license plates emblazoned with "Famous Potatoes."

Dick Manning is news editor of The Times-News.

Letters

Teach English language first

Our secretary of education, Terrell Bell, was formerly a teacher of our local school. He was teaching science and was a coach. He was a good teacher.

Now he advocates two years of study of foreign languages in school. I do not agree with him. Let us first teach the English language, so that all can read and write. The postal service in New York is giving people numbers, for the addresses are not legible. No one can read them. Our prisons are full of poor souls who cannot read and write, so cannot get a job to earn a living, so they have to steal in order to live. They are frustrated and turn to drugs and drink.

We are guilty for allowing such a system of education to take over 70 percent of the tax money, yet turn out illiterate students. We must see that control of education is put in the hands of the people, as Reagan promised to do.

If a child is taught the sounding of letters with phonics, they can sound out any word by the second grade. They become good readers.

The present method requires each child to memorize a certain number of words each year. Then, when they see a new word, they cannot pronounce it until some one tells them what it is. This is the reason why the "course of study" must be changed. Every letter must be sounded; for instance, "h" is like a chair. A fat man sits down in it and puffs with open mouth, and we hear the sound of "h." Letter "c" is like a snake and makes the same hissing sound — sometimes, most often, it makes the sound like "k," which is in key.

This is easily taught and makes for perfection in reading. Let us see that everyone who works in education is elected by the people, not appointed. Let us abolish the thousands who are not teaching.

yet are getting from $30,000 to $50,000 a year. There is plenty of money now without raising taxes. Let us again have our freedom. All expenditures should be published, even every box of chalk, as it used to be. Our Legislature demanded an audit, but Evans vetoed it. Why?

GENEVIEVE UTT
Eden

Cloggers appreciate support

We would like to thank all of the people who supported the Sawtooth Country Cloggers by coming to our show Saturday, June 25, in the City Park. It was really a thrill to see so many people there. We would also like to thank the people of Magic Valley for their great generosity in donating money to the group. The donations received will be a tremendous help to the group on our tour of southern California where we will be performing at Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm.

We appreciate the publicity for the event which The Times-News, KMYT and the radio stations gave us. It was gratifying to see so many people interested in the clogging group, and we know we wouldn't have been able to attract them without the help of the media.

We are grateful to the following merchants for donating merchandise or services for the raffle: Collector's Book, Sherwood's Sports Center, Christian Bookstore, Arby's, Taco Time, Bonnie's Salon, The Clip, Valley Schwinn Cycles, Wear House 222, Blacker Furniture, Valley Brake, John's Sharpening Service, Sage Gymnastics, Bongolans, Donnelly Sports, Jensen's Jewelers, Crowley's Pharmacy, McDonald's Restaurant, Slim's Gas and the Hydrolube.

Again, Magic Valley, thank you for your generous support of your local talent. We will do our very best to represent you and the state of Idaho the best way possible.

ED & VICKIE AUSTIN
Directors, The Sawtooth Country Cloggers

Quality of life to go up despite cost

There was a great deal of talk in the House of Representatives during the week before our 207th birthday about the quality of life in the United States.

That isn't a bad thing to consider as a nation celebrates its birthday. They didn't start out to talk about the quality of life, or plan it. That's just the way debate goes in the House.

They had planned to debate, and were in fact debating, one of those annual appropriations bills that Congress is always trying to pass and the president is always threatening to veto. This one was $1.1 billion for the Department of the Interior and related agencies. It was those related agencies that got them going on the quality of life.

The agencies include the likes of the Smithsonian Institution, the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities. In an $8.1 billion bill within a $50 billion budget, it is hard to get emotional about $40 million — but they managed.

The trigger for the outpouring of eloquence about the quality of life in America was Rep. John Patrick Hiller, Republican of Indiana. Hiller offered an amendment that would have reduced the appropriation for the arts and humanities by $40 million. He pointed out that a $50 billion deficit is made up of many $40 million items.

He was not, he hastened to assure his listeners and the folks back home in Indiana, against the federal government supporting the arts and humanities. He was not trying to reduce that support, but merely trying to keep it at last year's level. The House Appropriations Committee had increased it 15 percent over last year, an ineffective way of fighting deficits.

Otis Pike

You would have thought the gentleman from Indiana had threatened to tear the flag from the Capitol dome. Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., is the chairman of the subcommittee that handles appropriations for the interior department, and the House's chief defender of the arts and humanities. He is smooth, smooth, smooth.

Yates spoke in deep sorrow. "I always knew that some day a motion would come to cut the appropriation for the arts and humanities, but I never conceived that the motion would come from a member from the state that has such an outstanding center for the arts as the University of Indiana," said the congressman.

Zap. With his opening sentence, Yates has Hiller at tackling all that is beautiful back home. If Hiller had been from Mississippi, Yates would have been grieving for Ole Miss.

Members lined up to jump on Hiller. "This amendment is in fact an attack on the quality of life in this country," said Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill.

Rep. Elliott H. Levitas, D-Ga., invoked "the very quality of life and civilization," as well as the inscription on the Kennedy Center to the effect that after the dust of centuries has settled over our cities we will be remembered for our commitment to the human spirit.

Hiller found only two supporters. When Yates said we spend less per capita than any government in the Western world to support the arts and humanities, Rep. Ralph Regula, R-Ohio, pointed out that our government supports them indirectly through tax deductions for contributions.

Yates graciously conceded that he had tried to find out how much U.S. citizens contribute to the arts and humanities each year, but the Internal Revenue Service didn't know. He could afford to be gracious; he had the votes.

Regula said that through federal, state and local governments and private contributions, U.S. citizens contribute more to the arts and humanities than any citizens in the Western world. He provided the same statistics the IRS did.

Said Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., "We are lectured daily, hourly, by the minute by the other side on our deficits. Is there no place in the budget where we can hold the line?"

By a vote of 150 to 271, the House trounced Hiller's amendment. As we start our 208th year, it is comforting to know that even if we can't pay for it, the quality of our life is going up 15 percent.

Otis Pike, a former congressman, writes for Newhouse News Service.

Rebels claim U.S. advisers lead fight

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Rebels charged Sunday that U.S. military advisers have assumed "direct leadership" in the fight against them, and the country's church leader said that outside forces were destroying El Salvador.

The archbishop of San Salvador, Arturo Rivera y Damas, said in his Sunday sermon that foreign interests "have sought the path of arms and violence to solve our problems."

"It would be better to say that the annihilation of our people, not the solution, is being planned from outside our country," the archbishop told worshippers in San Salvador's Metropolitan Cathedral.

He did not name any country, and there was no indication if he was referring to the United States or neighboring Nicaragua which has been accused by Washington of aiding the Salvadoran rebels.

The clandestine guerrilla Radio Venceremos said a "pacification plan" being carried out by the Salvadoran army in eastern Usulután and San Vicente provinces was being designed and run by American military men.

The plan is patterned after one used by the United States in the Mekong Delta of South Vietnam during the Indochina war.

"North American advisers, unhappy with the high command's lack of ability, have begun to assume direct leadership in the war the puppet army is carrying out against the revolutionary forces," the radio said.

The 55 military advisers in El Salvador are under orders not to participate in combat and the U.S. Embassy, which prefers to call the men "trainers," says they are forbidden to direct Salvadoran army combat missions even from safe base camps.

Rivera y Damas, in his sermon, also blamed "excesses of fanaticism" for 93 recent deaths recorded by the church both on and off the battlefield and for 24 kidnappings.

Nicaragua says Costa Rica aiding guerrillas

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaragua, suggesting Costa Rica might be collaborating with guerrillas opposed to the Sandinista government, charged Sunday that 150 Costa Rican-based rebels besieged a Nicaraguan town.

"It is inexplicable how so many men with the amount and type of arms they have could have operated in Costa Rican territory and invaded our country without the Costa Rican authorities knowing," a ministry statement said.

The statement, quoted by the official newspaper Barricada, said rebel forces had laid siege to the supply town of San Juan del Norte, about 180 miles southeast of Managua near the Caribbean coast.

The first attack came Tuesday and was launched in boats across the San Juan River, which forms part of the border between the two countries, the newspaper quoted the ministry as saying.

The Defense Ministry said two government soldiers were killed in combat but gave no rebel casualty figures.

The Nicaraguan army said that by week's end the attack, including heavy mortar barrages, was being repulsed.

But in Costa Rica the rebels of the Democratic Revolutionary Alliance — known as ARDE — claimed they controlled the town of about 5,000 people and had captured about 30 Nicaraguan government reserve troops.

The Nicaraguan Defense Ministry did not confirm or deny the claim in its statements.

Managua's leftist regime, which came to power four years ago in a widely backed revolution, now is fighting several thousand U.S.-backed rebels near its northern border with Honduras.

Nuclear foes fail to alter Kohl stance

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Helmut Kohl said Sunday, on the eve of his four-day trip to the Soviet Union, he will tell Kremlin leader Yuri Andropov West Germany will deploy new U.S. missiles if the Soviets refuse to make concessions in the Geneva arms talks.

"I will try to make clear that we all want peace and that I come as a man of compromise and not conflict," he said.

Kohl has made plain in a series of statements that while he wants good relations with Moscow, West Germany is a firm member of the Western alliance and will not be moved by anti-nuclear "peace" demonstrations.

Kohl flies to Moscow today for the first meeting of a NATO head of government with Andropov since the latter succeeded Leonid Brezhnev as Soviet leader. He will be accompanied by Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher.

It was considered the most important German-Soviet contact since Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's first chancellor, broke the ice in relations with the Soviets in 1955.

Liechtenstein ruler steps down

VADUZ, Liechtenstein (UPI) — Prince Franz Josef II, Europe's longest reigning monarch, announced he will step down from Liechtenstein's throne next spring after 46 years.

At a concert Saturday night, the 76-year-old prince designated his son, Crown Prince Hans Adam, 38, as his successor, but a government spokesman said Franz Josef would remain titular head of state.

Tiny Liechtenstein is only 61 square miles of mountains sandwiched between Switzerland and Austria with a population of about 30,000.

Franz Josef, the 12th Liechtenstein on the throne since his Austrian ancestors bought the land around 1700, has ruled since March 1938 — longer than any living monarch except Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING
PHONE 733-0931

RED CROSS
Bloodmobile
BLOOD
DRAWING

Wednesday & Thursday

July 6 July 7
2 pm to 6 pm 11 pm to 3 pm

Special need for types O negative and O positive blood.

Presbyterian Church
209 5th Ave. North

Newspapers. So many ways to go

There are few limitations on what an advertiser can do in newspapers. Space choices range from one column by one inch-up-through-full pages-double trucks-special inserts. There's black and white or color. Long copy, impact graphics. Sampling. Mail-back devices. Selective penetration or total market coverage. What you need is what we've got. Call a Times-News advertising representative or Bill Blake, Advertising Director. (208) 733-0931.

DON PIEPERS 4th of July Specials

ALL BRANDS OF POP $1.69 a 6 pack

BUDWEISER

Reg. & Lite 12 pack

$4.89

COORS

$4.89

Reg. & Lite 12 pack

Sale Prices Good thru July 11th

OPEN 24 HOURS

Everyday

Gas, Propane, Diesel & Convenience Store

DON PIEPERS

240 Addison Ave. W.

The Times-News

NEWSPAPER POWER. GO FOR IT.

EFRAIN RIOS MONTT
Basic issues unresolved

More tests face 'born again' president

By JOHN E. NEWHAGEN
United Press International

GUATEMALA CITY — President Efraim Rios Montt headed off the most serious threat to his 15-month-old regime last week, but even his closest advisers say opponents will likely test his power again soon.

"If we keep on this line we will continue to have problems; we (in the government) are against the establishment," said Jorge Serrano, 38, head of the council of state that advises Rios Montt.

Last Tuesday, Rios Montt faced the most serious of what one senior diplomat called "one of about 10 crises that could have led to violence" since he took power after a coup March 23, 1982.

Rios Montt, a "born-again" Christian, fended off the threat by disbanding an advisory council of young army officers who hatched the 1982 coup that thrust him to power, canceling a controversial tax package and moving toward elections.

Analysis

But a broad range of Guatemalans still dislike the substance and style of his government.

Extreme rightist National Liberation Movement party leader Lionel Sianlegua Otero said in a taped television interview last week that Rios Montt promised in secret meetings before the 1982 coup that he would call early elections.

During the most critical hours last week, even Serrano's Council of State pressured Rios Montt to publicly call Constituent Assembly elections for July 29, 1984. But he has yet to set a firm date.

"He believes he was placed in a position of authority by God to cleanse this system and he wants more time," said the diplomat, who asked to remain anonymous.

A sore point with the middle class was the president's plan to decree a value-added tax — a kind of sales tax — which he put off in the face of the coup attempt.

Traditionally, public sector spending was about 10 percent of the gross national product, compared to 40 percent in the United States.

The nationally-broadcast Sunday sermons, preaching his California-based evangelical "Church of the Word" Protestant faith also sparked widespread resentment among the predominantly Catholic country.

One thing Rios Montt does enjoy — even though diplomats will not admit it on the record — is more American support than any regime since the Carter administration cracked down on the country for its abysmal human rights record.

But the issues that led to last week's coup attempt have not been resolved. People inside as well as outside the Rios Montt regime agree that more serious tests of his power are certain to come soon.

RING & VALVE SPECIAL
Most Cars & Pickups
4 & 6 Cyl. in line $299
Includes labor, Rings, Rod Bearings, Caskets, Oil & Filter
Chrome rings $25 extra

COMPUTER REPAIR
Auto Parts & Service
AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION REPAIR
Most Overhauls $339-$325
General Repair-Brokes, Carburetors, Tune-Ups, Electrical, Air Conditioning
HONEST GUARANTEE QUANTIFIED WORK
Carter Killinger's
HIGHWAY 30 GARAGE
11 miles west of town
734-7094

KITS Cameras

DOUBLE BONUS OFFER!

Ultra 5x7 Prints

BONUS #1
Bring Us Your 35mm Film For Processing and we'll give you back big, bright 5x7 prints for the same price as regular ULTRAPRINTS! And we'll show you what real quality is in photofinishing!

FREE!
8x12 ENLARGEMENT
From Your Favorite Negative
With EVERY ROLL OF 35mm FILM BROUGHT IN FOR PROCESSING
$4.99 Value
OFFER ENDS JULY 7, 1983

YOU WON'T FIND A BETTER PHOTOFINISHING VALUE IN NORTH AMERICA!

NO NEGATIVE? NO PROBLEM!
Copy Print Special

- From Your Standard Size Original Print
- Includes All Instant Prints
- One Size Print Per Order

49¢ Each
Limit 12
CASH VALUE 1/20th of 1¢. Expires 7-15-83.

UltraPrints REPRINTS
30% OFF
Regular Prices Limit 20 Prints Per Customer

ULTRA PRINTS FROM SLIDES
4x6 PRINTS from 35mm FILM 20% Off Reg. Price

SEIKANON
IT'S THE OPTICS THAT COUNT!

80-200mm F4.5 MACRO ZOOM LENS
5 Year Warranty

An innovative lens with continuous focusing from infinity to the macro range. Allows you to take pictures of anything from portraits to wildlife to sports action. Full 5-year warranty.

$139.99

Canon SURE SHOT

The Canon Sure Shot has a built-in auto exposure, auto-wind, motorized rewind and a built-in pop-up light. Features include: Canon USA, 1-year limited warranty, registration card.

$119.99

AUTO-EVERYTHING RICOH AF-5

Auto-Everything has a compact 35mm camera, taking the guesswork out of photography.

$139.99

Accepts 1000 ASA Film.

KITS Cameras

VALID AT PARTICIPATING KITS CAMERAS... LIMITED TO STOCK ON HAND
Blue Lakes Mall

Mom's glad she has twins

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of 22-month-old twin boys. When we're out shopping, someone will say, "Look, twins!" Then someone else says, "Cute to look at, but not to have."

I've been stopped by people who ask, "Are they twins?" (What a question! They're identical.) And when I say (proudly), "Yes," they say, "Well, I'm sure glad they're yours, not mine!" Abby, I'm GLAD they're mine, and it angers me to hear such unkind remarks.

Of course, I had no say in the matter, but I consider myself lucky to be the mother of twins. And my husband feels lucky, too. As for the double trouble and expense of raising two instead of one, they're well worth it.

Please, Abby, ask people not to feel sorry for me. And if you can put in a good word for twins, I'd appreciate it.

TWICE-BLESSED IN NORTH CAROLINA
DEAR TWICE-BLESSED: Not only are you "twice-blessed," your twins are. Being a twin offered countless advantages to me. I was never lonely. I always had a best friend — someone to play with, to sing with, to dance with. Someone to laugh (and cry) with, to share my most intimate secrets.

Parents of twins worry less because they feel that there's safety in numbers. (There is.)

Twins get the usual teasing: "What are your names? Kate and Duplicate? Pete and Repeat? Me and My Shadow."

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

ow? Or Double Trouble? And silly questions: "Do you ever get yourselves mixed up? How do you know which one you are?"

Twins share a very special relationship — so aptly described by Lord Byron:

"All who joy would win
"Must share it.
"Happiness was born a twin."
Happy birthday, Sis!

DEAR ABBY: Someone told me that you had an item in your column some years back mentioning "Fat Fannie Pantyhose." Is the company that makes them still in business? If so, where? I could sure use some.

HARD TO FIT IN TEXAS
DEAR HARD TO FIT: I'm told the company is still in business and spreading out! Try H. Glaser and Son, Inc., P.O. Box 967, Framingham, Mass. 01701.

DEAR ABBY: You helped "Never-Been Wed in Wisconsin" who had been invited to a bridal shower and was asked to bring 10 tips on how to be a good wife.

I thought they were real neat. Do you happen to have 10 tips on how to be a good husband? I'm getting married soon and need to know.

—MARC

DEAR MARC: Try these:

1. Never forget her birthday, anniversary or Valentine's Day. A kiss, a card or a single rose could save the day.
2. Don't keep talking about the beautiful young chicks at work.
3. Don't turn on the radio or TV, or pick up something to read, when she's trying to talk to you.
4. Don't bring a friend home to dinner without advance notice.
5. Don't use her car and return it with an empty gas tank.
6. If you know you're going to be late getting home, call and tell her.
7. Don't try to make her jealous.
8. Don't look like a slob all weekend — unless she looks worse.
9. When you know you're wrong, admit it.
10. Never criticize her in the presence of others.

(Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple "do-or-over-the-fence" ceremony, get Abby's booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Standouts

Eight Magic Valley students have received scholarships to Boise State University.

Kristi Jeppesen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jeppesen of Buhl, has received a University Club scholarship to BSU. A 1983 graduate of Castleford High School, she will major in business.

Lisa M. Scheer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scheer of Jerome, received a BSU Club scholarship. She graduated from Jerome High School this spring and plans to major in medical technology.

Eric S. Murrell, son of Stuart and Shirley Murrell of Jerome, has received an information and decision science and finance department scholarship. A 1979 graduate of Jerome High School, Murrell is majoring in information and decision science and finance.

Brett G. Murrell, also son of Stuart and Shirley Murrell, has received an English scholarship and a BSU National Merit scholarship. A 1982 graduate of Jerome High School, he is majoring in English.

Kyle Knight, son of Vern and Margaret Knight of Rupert, received an internship at the Department of Health and Welfare, division of environment at BSU. A 1979 graduate of Jerome High School, he is majoring in environmental health.

Pam Martinez, daughter of Ann H. Martinez, also of Rupert, received an internship in the educational program at the Idaho State Correctional Institution. She is majoring in social work and graduated from Minico High School in 1979.

Ellen Marie Roessler, daughter of Cecelia Roessler of Richfield and Ray Roessler of Gooding, has received a management and University Club scholarship to BSU. She graduated this spring from Richfield High School and plans on majoring in business.

Lynn D. Dille, son of Lewis and Edith Dille of Burley, has received a physics and engineering school scholarship to BSU. A 1970 Burley High School graduate, he is majoring in construction management.

The first Darrell Surber Memorial Scholarship has been awarded to Lisa Lindberg of Wells, Nev., to attend CSU this fall. She plans to study home economics. The $500 scholarship is in memory of CSU's former director of student activities, who died in 1982.

All Swensen's Markets
Will Be OPEN TODAY

Regular Hours

the Paris JULY CLEARANCE

Starts Tuesday at 10:00 A.M.

One Group
Blouses
Regularly to 23.00
Now 9.99
Famous brand blouses in short sleeve styles. Prints.
Sizes 6 through 20.
(street level)

Children's Swimwear
Regularly to 20.00
Now 1/3 off
Entire stock of children's swimwear, solids and patterns in sizes 4-6X, 7-14. Choose from 1 and 2 piece styles.
(the children's section)

One Group
Boutique Sportswear
Regularly to 89.00
Now Reduced 40%
Famous name tops, blouses, skirts and pants. Solid and prints.
Sizes 6 through 14, broken.
(street level)

Children's Activewear
Regularly to 40.00
Now 1/2 Price
Pants, shorts, tops and dresses of all styles for summer in bright colors. Solid and prints.
(the children's attic)

100-Only
Sundresses
Regularly to 47.00
Now 29.99
Choose from prints and plains in sizes 4 through 16.
(street level)

Pre-Teen
Shorts & Tops
Regularly to 26.00
Now 1/2 Price
Summy shorts and tops by several famous makers.
Pre-teen sizes.
(j. r. dept.)

Junior
Shorts & Pants
Regularly to 20.00
Now 1/2 Price
Short shorts, walking shorts and summer pants in junior sizes 3 through 13.
(top-of-the-stair)

One Group
Coordinated Sportswear
Regularly to 49.00
Now Reduced 40%
Famous brand coordinates consisting of jackets, tops, skirts and pants. Sizes 6 through 20.
(street level)

One Group
Designer Sportswear
Regularly to 250.00
Now 1/2 Price
Sportswear by several famous designers in nice summer weights and colors. Blouses, tops, pants, sweaters, and skirts. Sizes 4 through 14.
(town & country)

One Group
Knit Tops
Regularly to 19.00
Now 1/2 Price
Crop tops, tanks and T-shirts in a wide variety of colors and styles. Summer weight in junior sizes S, M, L.
(top-of-the-stair)

One Group
All-Weather Coats
Regularly to 69.00
Now 42.00
Street length all-weather coats in sizes 6 through 16. Several colors and styles.
(street level)

Colored
Shrink-To-Fits
Regularly to 21.00
2 pair for 17.00
Brightly colored shrink to fit jeans in good selection of sizes.

One Group
Sundresses
Regularly to 60.00
Now 1/2 Price
Junior sun and summer dresses in sizes 3 through 13. Solids and patterns in a good selection of styles.
(top-of-the-stair)

Aramis Cologne
4 oz. bottles of fine men's cologne. Regularly 20.00
Now 10.99
(cosmetics dept.)

Loungewear
Consisting of robes and long and short gowns.
Sizes S, M, L, but broken.
Regularly to 65.00
Now 10.99-34.99
(street level)

You Panties
Hipsters, briefs and bikinis in sizes 4-7.
Regularly to 4.75
Now 2.00
(street level)

Junior Sportswear
Junior sportswear tops, prints and skirts in summer colors & styles. Sizes 3-13.
Regularly to 45.00
Now 1/2 Price
(j. r. dept.)

Misses' Swimwear
Assorted swimwear in 1 and 2 piece styles. Solids and prints in sizes 4-16.
Regularly to 60.00
Now 1/2 Price
(town & country)

Junior Coats
Spring and summer jackets in wind breaker styles, both pullover and zip front. Sizes 5-13.
Regularly to 60.00
Now 19.99
(top-of-the-stair)

Junior Blouses
Summer blouses in prints and solids by several famous makers. Sizes 3-13.
Regularly to 28.00
Now 8.99
(top-of-the-stair)

Junior Sleepwear
Shorties, long gowns & pj's in junior styles and summer weights. Sizes S, M, L.
Regularly to 42.00
Now Reduced 40%
(top-of-the-stair)

124 Main Avenue North, Twin Falls 733-1506
Closed Today — Monday, July 4 • Open Daily 10:00 to 6:00, Saturdays 11:30 to 5:30
Validated Parking With Your Purchases — Use the 2nd Avenue North Lot

Comics

Frank and Ernest

LET'S HURRY TO LAS VEGAS WHILE WAYNE NEWTON'S IN WASHINGTON, D.C.!

TO AIRLINES

THANKS 7-4

Broom-Hilda

O.K. I'M COMIN' IN AND CLEANIN' THE PLACE OUT!

NIZE AN' CLEAN! YES SIR, AN' CLEAN!!!

RUSSELL, MERE!

Gasoline Alley

You'd better look in on poor Mr. Plicker!

He's ill!

Is you all right, sir?

I just had a terrible dream!

The Clippes were here and...wanted forty thousand dollars for their dinky lot!

It wasn't a dream!

POS

Hagar the Horrible

HAGAR! COULD I SEE YOU FOR A MINUTE?

DIDN'T I ASK YOU NOT TO BOTHER ME AT WORK?

Garfield

GARFIELD, I KNOW YOU'RE IN MY FERN. I CAN SEE YOUR TAIL.

WHAT DO YOU HAVE TO SAY FOR YOURSELF?

I SAY WE ATTACK THE FORT AT DAWN.

JOHN DAVENTS

The Born Loser

IF A MAN TAKES CARE OF HIMSELF, HE CAN RETAIN HIS PHYSICAL PROMISE AS HE GROWS OLDER...

THERE'S NOTHING I COULD DO AT 17 THAT I CAN'T DO NOW!

WHICH WILL GIVE YOU A ROUGH IDEA OF WHAT KIND OF SPELLEN DADDY WAS AT 17?

Wizard of Id

MIRROR, MIRROR, ON THE WALL...MAKE ME FEEL SEVEN FEET TALL.

P.O.F.

Hi and Lois

YOU WOMEN SHOULDN'T GOSSEP LIKE THAT!

YOU MEN GOSSEP TOO!

I HEARD YOU TELL THIRSTY ABOUT REG DOOLEY'S TROUBLE AT THE OFFICE.

THAT'S "INFORMATION SHARING"

PIR BLANK 7-1

Beetle Bailey

GOOD NEWS, BEETLE!

YOU DON'T HAVE TO GO ON THE HIKE TODAY.

MOE BLANKED

Teenie

THESE ARE LOUSY FIREWORKS! AND DANGEROUS!

SPUT! SPUTTER!

THAT LOOKS LIKE A REAL GOOD ONE!

I HOPE SO.

READY, WHEN YOU'RE READY!

©1983-84 DUNN-KANE

Andy Capp

ANDY'S BEEN IN BED THE LAST COUPLE OF DAYS. HE'S SUSTROPPED AND HE IS.

PICKING UP A LITTLE ENGLISH.

Blondie

I CAN'T GET A GIRL!

THERE'S A GUY IN SCHOOL NAMED LANCE. HE GETS ALL THE GIRLS.

SO WHEN YOU CALL UP A GIRL, TELL HER LANCE.

GOOD IDEA!

HI, DEBBIE, THIS IS LANCE.

Peanuts

THUMP! (RATS!)

THUMP! (RATS!)

YOU CAN'T LOB IN HERE!!

Daily crossword

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13

14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22 23 24 25 26 27 28 29 30 31 32

33 34 35 36 37 38 39 40 41 42 43 44 45 46 47 48 49 50 51 52 53 54 55

56 57 58 59 60 61 62 63

ACROSS

1 Difficult

5 Laminated rock

10 Fly alone

14 Adams

15 Typo

16 beer

17 Wing-shaped

18 Flag colors

20 Single

21 Czech river

22 Rinders

23 Mimicked

24 Russian ruler

26 Surrender

28 Ship's complement

30 Test

33 Farmland

34 Drench

35 Wrath

40 Young

41 Vinegar

42 Fender

43 melahar

44 West on/off

45 Rocks

47 Offers

48 And others

49 Sacred

50 hymn

52 Elliptical

53 Fermented drink

56 Flag-waving

58 Stare

60 Stare fixedly

61 "Father of television"

62 child

63 Settle

64 Strong

65 God of war

DOWN

1 Man of courage

2 Arabiar

3 Be conveyed

4 Morning moisture

5 Baseball pitch

6 Dejected

7 Antiquing

8 Wetlands

9 Grassland

10 Sea eagle

11 Coven

12 Earthen jar

13 Pre-h

14 Mine

15 products

16 Aspiration

17 Bureau

18 component

23 State

24 Pestry

25 Sphered

26 Squander

27 Theatrical performer

28 Angry

29 Ciphers

30 Mature

31 Dunne or Pappas

32 Annoying persons

33 Treats with contempt

34 Pinch pennies

35 Waterless

36 False god

37 Boaths

38 Body-powder

39 Sator money from

40 Turn inside out

41 Swine

42 Cookie

43 Altitude

44 Tautonic god

45 Hebrew month

46 Tardy

47 Peepers

48 and flow

49 Scottish negative

50 Time period

L.M. Boyd

What's what

The "Peeping Tom" laws of most states assume the peeper is male, never female, and they prescribe punishments for men, but not for women. In Mississippi, for instance, a man convicted of peeping can get five years, but a woman can't even be charged with that one.

A man on pulchritude patrol wants a woman five to 10 years younger than himself. A woman in the search finds a man her own age. Or so contend the "surveytakers" who interviewed a sizable sampling of singles. Our Love and War man mistrusts the finding. In romance, says he, the intriguing exceptions outnumber the affairs predictable.

Mr. Thatcher:

Q. Does Great Britain's Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher have a husband?

A. She does. Denis Thatcher. He's in the sheep-dip business. Has sold a lot of it. Quite well-to-do.

Q. My husband makes $22 an hour at the car assembly plant. What would he make in China? Or does China have car assembly plants?

A. There, he'd get 60 cents an hour, at this writing, if he worked in the American Motors design operation. That's the only one going in China, so far.

Q. How long have brightly colored golf balls been around?

A. Since 1928. Wilson put out an orange and yellow. But they didn't sell any too well, then. Now the golf ball makers spend 80 percent of the production time on the colored balls.

JOGGING

If you're not a jogger, you may not hear what the joggers say. Namely, that jogging is not just a physical fitness routine to tone up muscles and strengthen lungs, but that it's a powerful therapy to relieve depression, anger and anxiety.

Was none other than Kris Kristofferson who said, "All the interesting women are over 30."

England's Prince Charles is big on Vitamin C. Takes masses of same daily.

"Over pronation" is another bit of medical jargon for flat feet.

Address mail to L.M. Boyd in care of the newspaper.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Any problems that come to you today or tonight will undoubtedly be from the past and you now are able to forget such mistakes and concentrate upon what you can do in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You get fine ideas for gaining more success in the future as you find them in operation as quickly as you can. Make new friends.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Think over how you can get rid of conditions that are not to your liking and plan how to attract what you want.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Cultivating those individuals who really like and think as you do makes your life more interesting.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Career matters improve and you can become more successful very quickly. State your aims to powerful persons.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A good day for a trip. However, use judgment today in dealing with co-workers. Drive safely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Contact those you are acquainted with whose business ideas you like and tell them you agree with their plans.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have personal aims that can be gained by applying yourself seriously to them. Permit individuals to become friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) During this holiday you can think out how best to improve your daily work so that you can gain far more profit from it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are inspired how to get your finest talents working like a charm, so pay attention to your intuition.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show in the depth of your devotion in some different way and be grateful for a peaceful atmosphere. Socialize today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan how to produce more in your line of work in the future, since you have much energy that could be used to advantage.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Play just how to make your property more charming and also add to assets you now enjoy. Get an early start on such.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: He or she will be capable of whatever is modern and up-to-the-minute so plant the education along New Era lines and give a good grounding in history.

Journey almost through

By JONI BALTER
United Press International

NEAH BAY, WASH. — Mark Schrader, nearing the end of a nine-month solo voyage around the world, sailed his 40-foot "Resourceful" into Neah Bay Thursday to pick up supplies and step foot on his home state.

"It feels just great," said Schrader, who is about to become the first American to solo circumnavigate the globe on the southern route around the five great capes.

Schrader, who will have traveled 27,300 miles in 204 days at sea when he arrives home at Seattle's Shilshole Bay on Monday, July 4, looked forward to a weekend of smooth sailing on the inland waters of western Washington.

Shooting over the rail of his $200,000 sailboat off the cape a day earlier, Schrader said he needed more adjectives to describe how great he felt upon returning home to the Northwest.

The famed 36-year-old sailor, who departed Seattle last Sept. 25, said he was sailing for dollars.

He was trying to raise money for the Resource Foundation of Mountlake Terrace, Wash., an agency which provides vocational and residential care for developmentally disabled and emotionally disturbed children and young adults.

As the foundation's executive director in charge of fund-raising, he said, he discovered the traditional ways of raising money weren't working.

"It had to be a major adventure to gather people's attention," he said. "When I looked into it, I found out from the record books there hadn't been any American going around the five capes."

So far, Mark's travels have raised $215,000 of a targeted $1.5 million. Schrader and his colleagues hope to make the rest through films, slide shows, t-shirts and other promotional efforts based on the trip.

The fund-raising, he said, was only one incentive. Schrader said he knew from his 12 years of sailing he wanted to go on a long-distance trip alone.

"It was a personal challenge — I wanted to try it," he said, filling his brilliant blue and white sail with the driving wind. "It's gone very well, but in retrospect there were a million things to do."

Schrader had five planned stops during his journey: Cape Horn, Dec. 12; Capetown, South Africa, Jan. 25; Hobart, Tasmania, March 29; Christchurch, New Zealand, April 26; and Honolulu, June 9.

There were also two unscheduled stops — on Oct. 8 in Santa Barbara, Calif., where he had his radio repaired, and on Dec. 26 when he stopped to have his backup engine repaired in the Falkland Islands.

The British Royal Navy helped him in the latter incident. "You can't do better than that," he said.

Mark Schrader at helm of 40-foot sailboat Resourceful

MACHO MONDAY

Mexican Night
It's Tough To Be T!

Tacos, Beef & cheese Enchiladas, Chile Relleno, refried beans, spanish rice, coffee or tea.

ALL YOU CAN EAT $2.00

Margarita Special: Our Regular $2.00 size. Only $1.00 for the ladies

Come On Down... Get Lucky at

Barton's

Jackpot, Nevada Live Entertainment

Call Toll Free 794-1893

Winning big at weekend bingo

CHEROKEE, N.C. (UPI) — Estelle Yankiver, who figured "What the heck" and slapped down $1,000 to enter, won nearly $10,000 in three games at the world's largest bingo extravaganza hosted by the Cherokee Indian reservation.

"I don't believe in luck. But if it's your night, it's your night," said Mrs. Yankiver, who shouted "Bingo!" three times during the 13-hour session that started Saturday and ended after midnight Sunday.

"This is a fluke," she said. "I've been very fortunate, that's all."

Mrs. Yankiver, 58, and her husband, Abe, 60, drove to the reservation in the Great Smoky Mountains from their Delray, Fla., home for the big game.

All but a couple hundred players went home with empty pockets, but Mrs. Yankiver defied the odds to win three times. Her prize money totaled $9,100.

Mrs. Yankiver, a mother of four, worked as a counselor at the City College of New York when her husband ran a laundry in The Bronx. When he suggested they invest $1,000 to play at Cherokee, she told him he was crazy.

Seat as deputy for blind woman

MACERATA, Italy (UPI) — A blind woman, who ran as an independent on the Communist Party ticket in last week's national election, was elected to serve in Italy's Chamber of Deputies, press reports said Sunday.

Vanda Dignani Grimaldi, 53, is the first blind person to serve in the Italian parliament.

Grimaldi, who lost her sight as a child because of a medical error, said she plans to fight for the rights of the handicapped in her new parliamentary role.

"My program will be that of fighting for the weak," said Grimaldi, a high school Italian literature teacher.

Fun! Swimming and Miniature Golf Fun!

OPEN JULY 4th
Open At 1:00

Putt and Plunge

807 Wendell Ave. (Across from Robert Stuart) 733-6567 or 733-2402

COUPON-SMART SHOPPERS

EVERY WEDNESDAY THROUGHOUT OUR FOOD SECTION WE WILL BE FEATURING A VARIETY OF COUPONS THAT WILL HELP YOU SAVE ON YOUR GROCERY BILL

COUPONS FEATURED THIS WEEK

Land O' Lakes Butter	20¢ off
Kellogg's Rice Krispies	25¢ off
Malt-O-Meal Crisp 'n Crackling Rice	15¢ off

The Times-News

MOVIES

HAPPY 4th of JULY INFLATION FIGHTER
Sun. and Mon. from 4 to 6 P.M. all adults get in for $2.75 and all night Sun. & Mon. At the Motor-Vu and Grand-Vu — Mail Cinema Excluded

Enter a new dimension.

TWIN MOTOR-VU
Chilling Capiti At

TWIN CINEMA
Sun. 11:45-1:15-2:45-4:15-5:45-7:15-8:45-10:15
Mon. 8:30-10:15

ROBIN WILLIAMS, WALTER MATTHAU
Once they declare war on each other, watch out.

SURVIVORS

TWIN CINEMA
Daily 1:30-3:00-4:30-6:00-7:30-9:00-10:30

STAR WARS
RETURN OF THE JEDI

TWIN CINEMA
Daily 1:30-3:00-4:30-6:00-7:30-9:00-10:30

GRAND-VU OPENERS
2 GREAT HITS
1. STEVE MARTIN
2. THE DOCTOR WILL SEE YOU NOW

TWIN CINEMA
Sun. 12:15-2:45-5:15-7:45-10:15
Mon. 8:15-10:45

POKEY'S II
The Next Day
If you thought the night before was funny, wait till you see the next day.

TWIN CINEMA
Sun. 12:15-2:45-5:15-7:45-10:15
Mon. 8:15-10:45

BURT REYNOLDS, and LONI ANDERSON
Shogun
Age

Has had on the head and all!

NOW SHOWING!

TWIN CINEMA
Sun. 11:45-1:15-2:45-4:15-5:45-7:15-8:45-10:15
Mon. 8:30-10:15

ROGER MOORE
OCTOPUSSY

TWIN CINEMA
Sun. 11:45-1:15-2:45-4:15-5:45-7:15-8:45-10:15
Mon. 8:30-10:15

James Bond's
all time action high.

ROGER MOORE
OCTOPUSSY

TWIN CINEMA
Sun. 11:45-1:15-2:45-4:15-5:45-7:15-8:45-10:15
Mon. 8:30-10:15

Cash in on your home

Get the extra cash you need with a Home Equity Loan.

The equity you've built up in your home can be a source for the extra cash you need for home improvements, personal investments, travel, college expenses or any worthwhile purpose.

to 15 years. There's no prepayment penalty and the interest you pay is all tax deductible. Get together with United First to cash in on your home. Simple phone or stop by the United First office nearest you and talk with a Loan Officer.

United First
FEDERAL SAVINGS
Idaho's largest savings association

Twin Falls Office
214 N. Main Street (at First Ave.)
734-0001

Jerome Office
1401 N. Main Street
324-1827

Burley Office
Burley Mall
334-0011

Offices also in Boise, Idaho Falls, McCall, Montpelier, Nampa, Caldwell, Pocatello and Teton.

SIDE BY SIDE Refrigerator/Freezer GE 21.8 Cu. Ft. 2 Only TFF22D Reg. $1399.95 1/2 Price $699⁹⁵ With Qualified Trade Add $100 For No Trade	Amana Touchmatic II Microwave 10 Year Limited Warranty Reg. $729.95 1/2 Price $365⁰⁰ With Working Trade
---	--

SOFA SLEEPERS
 4 Only
 Reg. $529.95
 1/2 Price $264⁹⁵
 U-Haul

USED COLOR TV's 1/2 PRICE	CHAIRS 8 Only Occasional Rockers 1/2 PRICE
-------------------------------------	--

STANLEY 5 Piece Bedroom Set Beautiful Oak
 Reg. $1619⁹⁵
 1/2 Price $809⁹⁰
 U-Haul

GE 25" Console TV 2 Only Reg. $819.95 1/2 Price $409⁹⁵ With Qualified Trade	FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS AND ARTIFICIAL TREES 1/2 PRICE
--	--

STRATOLOUNGER & RECLINERS
 1 Group - 14 Only
 1/2 PRICE

5 Piece DINETTE Swivel Arm Chair With Castors Reg. $709.95 1/2 Price $354⁹⁵ 1 Only	OCCASIONAL TABLES 26 To Choose From 1/2 PRICE
--	--

Speed Queen WASHER & DRYER
 Several To Choose From
 1/2 Price with Qualified Trade
 Add $100.00 With No Trade

Sag Guard BOX SPRINGS & MATTRESS Soft Touch Queen Size Reg. $659.00 1/2 Price $329⁵⁰ U-Haul	TABLE LAMPS 50 To Choose From 1/2 PRICE
--	--

1/2

PRICE SALE
BLACKER'S

6 HOURS ONLY
12 NOON TO 6 P.M.
MONDAY, JULY 4th

Amana 17 Cu. Ft. Upright FREEZER Floor Model 1 Only Reg. $749.95 1/2 Price $375⁰⁰ With Working Trade	Amana AIR CONDITIONER 13,000 B.T.U. 120 volt Reg. $799.95 1/2 Price $399⁹⁵ With Qualified Trade
---	--

HUNDREDS OF ADDITIONAL ITEMS ON SALE - SPECIALLY PRICED FOR THIS EVENT.
MONDAY, JULY 4th ONLY

ED & ROSS COOK
Blacker
 COMPLETE HOME FURNISHINGS
 223 2nd Avenue East
 Phone 733-1804
 FREE PARKING

Amana Convection MICROWAVE OVEN 1 Only Reg. $849.95 1/2 Price $429⁹⁵ With Working Trade	GE 1 Only BUILT-IN DISHWASHER Reg. $429.95 1/2 Price $214⁹⁵
--	--

LOVE SEATS
 Select From 9 All Styles & Colors
 1/2 PRICE

Zenith 19" COLOR TV Reg. $529.95 1/2 Price $264⁹⁵ With Qualified Trade Add $75.00 No Trade	People Lounger All Leather RECLINER Reg. $1099.95 1/2 Price $549⁹⁵
--	---

VCR RECORDER
 Reg. $799.95
 1/2 PRICE $399⁹⁵

SOFA & LOVE SEAT Stratford Reg. $1099.95 1/2 Price $549⁹⁰ 1 Only	GE 17.2 Cu. Ft. REFRIGERATOR/FREEZER TBFM17V 2 Only Reg. $799.95 With Free Ice Maker 1/2 Price $399⁹⁵ With Qualified Trade No Trade Add $100.00
---	---

Zenith Color TV 25" CONSOLE SPACE PHONE
 1 Only
 Reg. $1469.95
 NOW 1/2 Price $735⁰⁰
 With Qualified Trade - U-Haul Add $100.00 No Trade

La-Z-Boy RECLINERS Large Man Size Reg. $599.95 1/2 Price $299⁹⁰ U-Haul	Beige CORDUROY SOFA Reg. $859.95 1/2 Price $429⁹⁰ U-Haul
---	--

Serta Ortho Cushion Luxury Top BOX SPRINGS & MATTRESS
 Twin Size Reg. $399.95... 1/2 Price $199⁹⁰
 Full Size Reg. $499.95... 1/2 Price $249⁹⁰
 Queen Size Reg. $599.95... 1/2 Price $299⁹⁵

5 DRAWER CHEST Walnut (See Others) Reg. $229.95 1/2 Price $115⁰⁰	7 Piece DININGROOM SET 1 Only U-Haul Reg. $969.95 1/2 Price $484⁹⁵
--	--

Sagebrush Days: Patriotism, fire hoses

Service emphasizes nation's heritage

By KAREN MAIN
Times-News writer

BUHL. — Casting aside their specific religious affiliations, residents of Buhl and surrounding communities gathered together at a non-denominational Patriotic Service of Worship Sunday morning.

United by the common denominator of being both Americans and Christians, the congregation filled one side of the Buhl Junior High School gymnasium for the service sponsored by the Westend Ministerial Association as part of the Sagebrush Days celebration.

In the spirit of Independence Day, ministers from local churches emphasized that America has been blessed both materially and especially spiritually and those bounties can be shared with the world.

Pastor Harry Grace Jr. of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church delivered the main sermon on "Peace to Those Whose Hearts Are Turned to God."

It is unfortunate that our country only recognizes the birth of our nation from 1776 when people took up arms and signed the Declaration of Independence, Grace said.

Instead, 1983 should also be celebrated as the 200 year anniversary of other countries finally recognizing us as a nation in peace, he said.

"Let us make a covenant with each other to listen to what the Lord God is saying, for I believe he is speaking peace," Grace said.

Buhl businessman Ormand Smith led the gathering in songs dedicated to both God and country.

In his animated comments, Smith encouraged the community to maintain the Christian and patriotic spirit throughout the holiday weekend and all year round.

"Like a car with a weak battery, we can't let the Christians sputter down," Smith said.

"Let's keep that battery charged," he said. "Let's all be Christians as we can."

Competition leaves contestants soaked

By KAREN MAIN
Times-News writer

BUHL. — The rain may have stopped by Sunday afternoon, but a bunch of people in Buhl ended up soaked anyway at Sagebrush Days fire hose competition.

Fortunately, it didn't take long for the waterlogged contestants to dry out in the summer sun and cool breezes of Faria Field.

Amid the cheers and laughter from rooting bystanders, two four-person teams of men, women or children aimed the fire hose nozzles at a metal barrel suspended on a wire above their heads.

As the competitors hugged their water weapons to control the power stream, the barrel whizzed back and forth until it hit a goal post.

Those who were not tough enough to withstand the wet blasts were fortified in rubber fire suits and helmets, while braver souls stuck it out in jeans and shorts.

Even the spectators standing in the street or settled on the lawns of the baseball field could not avoid the mist of the shooting gushers.

"Is there anybody in the crowd that's not getting wet?" the announcer, Wayne Iverson, asked the laughing onlookers.

But, the drifting drizzle did not dampen the good humor of the audience as they screamed to their favorite teams. "Go, go, Don't lose it. Back, back. Now they're in trouble. Go, go."

The firehose competition ended up with "Hartway's Raiders," who are members of Police Chief Dave Hartway's department, in first place for the men's division. The West End Welding team took second place.

In the women's division, the "Marvelous Medics" from Buhl's Quick Response Unit placed first. A team named the "Wet Heads," who lived up to their name, came in second.

Beauty pageants

It's not all glitter, glamor for girls entering minor-league events

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS. — When most people think of beauty pageants, they picture glitter, glamorous hotels and rich prizes.

But not all contests are filled with stars and $25,000 prizes like the Miss America and Junior Miss pageants.

An increasing number of people have jumped into the beauty business, and they are making money on contests that are pale imitations of the two big pageants. They collect entry fees from the contestants and offer small prizes in return.

The contestants in the Idaho Miss United Teenager contest were not put up at a luxury hotel or driven around in limousines during the pageant week. They stayed in a dorm at Idaho State University.

And the winner of the Idaho Miss Pre-Teen contest will collect between $200 and $300, compared to the thousands awarded in the Miss America pageant. In this particular pageant, each contestant has to send in $175 in sponsor fees.

The runners-up in the September contest will go home with only ribbons and trophies. And the national finals will not be held in Las Vegas or San Francisco, but in Lehigh Acres, Fla.

The difference between the big leagues and the minors is dramatic.

When Dori Whittaker, 18, of Kimberly, won the Idaho Junior Miss contest last November, she received $2,250 in scholarships. All of the runners-up walked away with at least several hundred dollars because they had won previously at the local level.

Lisa Theiland of Aberdeen won the Idaho Miss United Teenager pageant last Thursday at Idaho State University. She won a trip to California and Hawaii. The losers received nothing.

Although she did not quite make it to the top during the finals in Mobile, Ala., on June 21, Whittaker added another $2,500 to her scholarship fund. And the 32 contestants shared $38,000 in additional scholarships. The winner earned $25,000 toward school.

The Idaho winner of the United Teenager pageant will compete in the national finals and share $15,000 in scholarships with 50 other girls.

The size of the prizes awarded is not the only thing that differentiates the two contests.

All Whittaker had to do to enter her contest was buy a dress. The Twin Falls Kiwanis Club did the rest. Club members found sponsors, arranged for a coach and accompanied Whittaker to the state and national contests.

Theiland, however, had to come up with $180 in sponsorship money and provide her own transportation to Pocatello.

That's because the Junior Miss program is run by a non-profit foundation. The local and state Junior Miss contests usually are run by service groups, such as the Kiwanis, Lions or Optimist clubs, says Ken Roberts, the general manager of the Junior Miss program. These groups solicit contributions from businesses to pay for the local pageants and prizes.

Any money that is not spent on the contest is rolled over into next year's pageant fund. The Twin Falls Kiwanis Club does not earn anything on the pageant, says Lance Clow, the local pageant coordinator.

None of the commercial pageants can compete with the Junior Miss program or the Miss America contest in prize money. They each distributed about $2.5 million in scholarships this year.

Promoters of the United Teenager pageant, however, pocket the difference between their pageant costs and the sum of the sponsorship money.

The girls who enter pageants such as Miss United Teenager, National Little Miss, Little Miss American, Miss National Pre-Teen and Miss T.E.E.N. are not always aware of the differences between these pageants and the Miss America contest.

Many of the contestants do not even know how much prize money they can win and where the finals will be held when they set out to find sponsors.

And without a detailed investigation, there is little chance to compare notes on the contests.

The scores of press releases sent to newspapers across the country look official, but they contain few details about prizes. None of them mention that the contests are profit-making enterprises.

One release from the Miss National Pre-Teen contest said that the winner of the state pageant

See BEAUTY on Page B2

Winning sometimes comes in second

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS. — Although it always feels nice to be crowned "winner," the kid winning is not the only thing for the young women who enter pageants.

For many of the contestants, the trip to Pocatello or Boise represents a chance to experience the city lights on their own for the first time.

They learn there is more in life than milking cows," says Ken Roberts, the executive director of the Boise Better Business Bureau, and an experienced contest judge.

And win or lose, it is an opportunity to make new friends and to compare notes with other teenagers.

The contestants return home with a greater sense of confidence, poise and their creative abilities, he says.

Most pageants are commercial and make a lot of money for the coordinators. But they can provide a "good experience" for the girls, even though the return is nothing compared to what they put in, says Lance Clow, the coordinator of the Twin Falls Junior Miss program.

The Junior Miss and Miss America pageants are non-profit organizations. Coordinators of the Junior Miss contest refer to it as a scholarship program, rather than a beauty pageant.

Dori Whittaker, 18, the current Idaho Junior Miss, entered the contest because she thought it would be a lot of fun, she says. She also had her eye on the scholarship money.

She did not qualify as a finalist in the national contest in Mobile, Ala., last month, but she says she thoroughly enjoyed the experience.

She was "treated like a big celebrity." Each of the contestants toured the Gulf Coast sights in a chauffeur-driven sports car, complete with police escorts.

And the two-week pageant ended in a nationally televised program, emceed by Michael Landon of "Bonanza" fame.

"It was a very positive experience," Whittaker says. "The process of meeting the other contestants, Whittaker says she discovered her own strengths and weaknesses."

In the process, she won close to $5,000 to help pay for tuition at Brigham Young University in the fall.

The women who compete in the commercial pageants do not get the same kind of treatment Whittaker did, but that does not seem to detract from their pleasure.

"I had a blast. I think every girl should go through it," says Miss Moore on her contest experience at the Miss T.E.E.N. Idaho pageant in June.

"I think it's the best thing that ever happened to me," Moore says.

Moore, 16, of Kimberly, won the speech competition and tied for the third runner-up in the interview. She won $100 and a trophy for her effort.

Moore learned about the contest through a letter from the contest organizers. She had some problems finding sponsors to pledge the necessary $275 entry fee, but eventually, she rounded up the money.

Moore says it was worth it. She made 48 friends and learned to meet people.

And Wendy Davis of Filer has similar hopes for her 5-year-old daughter, Robin. Mrs. Davis thinks Robin can win the Idaho Little Miss pageant because "she's real outgoing and talkative for her age."

Even if Robin does not win, "she will be appearing in front of other people," Mrs. Davis says. "She'll need to do that later on."

Thornberg thinks age 5 is too young to start, but he agrees that "the rewards extend beyond the money involved."

The contestants have a good time, learn how to compete and improve as individuals, he says.

Clow does not think much of the commercial pageants, but he says he has seen some contestants in the Junior Miss contest "blossom" after competing.

One woman lost 40 pounds after she decided to enter, Clow says. She did not place in the Twin Falls contest, but the program provided the incentive to lose weight, he says.

In another case, a contestant had family problems. The father was beating the mother, and the couple was going through a divorce. The pageant was the "one thing that kept her together," Clow says.

Michelle Moore of Kimberly enjoyed her experience in one of the commercial pageants. "I had a blast," she says of her entry into the Miss T.E.E.N. contest.

Food, shelter grant available to CAA

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS. — Under a new federally funded program, the South Central Community Action Agency has more than $18,000 to spend on emergency food and shelter for low-income families in the Magic Valley.

The agency now is taking applications for the aid at its Jerome, Twin Falls and Burley offices, says Carol Clett, the agency's services coordinator.

SCCAA's new program for poverty-level families was made possible by a grant from the Federal Emergency Management Assistance Agency. The grant was funded by the Job Bill, a measure passed by Congress this spring to help the unemployed.

Unemployment, however, is not a requirement to receive the food or shelter assistance, Clett says.

But applicants do have to meet federal income guidelines.

"The program is for anyone in a crisis situation. Most people living in these guidelines are in a crisis situation," she says.

The income requirements are for a one-person household, annual income cannot exceed $6,075; for a family of two, $8,175; for three, $12,375; for four, $14,475; for five, $16,575; for six, $18,675; for seven, $20,775; for eight, $22,875.

Families with more than eight members should add $2,100 for each additional member.

With the grant, the agency has purchased $10,000 worth of non-perishable food. An eligible family can receive a maximum six-day allotment from now until Sept. 30.

The food will be issued out of the agency's existing emergency food pantries.

For more information, call the South Central Community Action Agency at 753-8337.

'Finger' veins found at Bellevue mine

By HAL BERNTSON
Times-News writer

"BELLEVUE" — "Finger" veins that have been found at a major silver mine have been unearthed at Carl Johnston's Minnie Moore Mine near Bellevue.

Johnston first struck silver at this shut-down silver mine some five weeks ago while blasting for rock to line the banks of the flooding Big Wood River. But some 30 feet of rock overburden made it difficult to determine the size of the new silver find.

Now, Johnston says, the finger veins may point to what could be one of the biggest silver strikes in recent southern Idaho history. More exploratory work, however, still is necessary before the actual extent of the silver strike is known.

But already, Johnston says, a major international mining company has proposed a joint venture to develop the site. And the Ketchum-based Cash Industries has offered to mill some of the ore.

"Three different geologists seem to think we are right on top of an awfully close to, a large body of ore," he says.

"We still have lots of exploring to do, but it's looking better all the time."

Johnston, a Bellevue construction contractor, who moved to Blaine County from Las Vegas, in 1975, bought the shut-down Minnie Moore Mine in 1978 with a down payment on a $250,000 selling price.

Originally, he had hoped that he could make the mine pay for itself by rock for excavation work. But during the past five years, Johnston found the mine to be a financial burden as he struggled to make its $30,000-a-year payments and still have enough money left over to support his family of four.

The recent strike may turn around the mine's sagging fortunes. One piece of ore — analyzed two weeks ago for the Times-News by Alpine Assays of Twin Falls — contained 64 ounces of silver to the ton, five times the minimum grade required for economical smelting.

Some of the newly found ore ended up being dumped into the river as rip-rap, the term given to rocks used to line riverbanks and build levees.

Johnston sold the rip-rap during the spring flooding to contractors hired by the Army Corps of Engineers and area residents. Those sales helped finance the excavation of the silver strike.

Now, the Big Wood River waters have receded and demand for rip-rap has slowed to a trickle. Despite the loss of revenue, Johnston, aided by Twin Falls blaster Bill Trowbridge, has continued to drill water holes in the sagebrush-covered hill that hides the major silver lode.

New assays, Johnston says, have determined that some of the ore in the exposed veins contain flecks of gold worth $50 to the ton, in addition to the silver content.

These veins, geologists believe, will lead down to a major silver "pod," containing high-grade silver ore. It is that high-grade ore, sampled in the Times-News assay, that will make it profitable to launch a major mine development effort.

Initial drilling work has led Johnston and Trowbridge to believe that the pod is some 15-foot thick and perhaps 35-feet wide. Its length still is unknown.

News of Johnston's silver strike

See MINE on Page B3

CARL JOHNSTON Holds chunk of ore

Council pays half for walks

RICHFIELD — City Council has agreed to pay part of the costs to repair sidewalks in Richfield.

At its recent meeting, council members voted to pay half of the cost to repair sidewalks on the north and east sides of the bank, the block in front of the city offices and in front of Lemmon Hardware.

The other half will be the responsibility of the property owners.

In other business, council heard a report on the completion of the sewer project in the municipal park.

Blaine hospital board OKs budget

HAILEY — The board of directors of the Blaine County Medical Center has approved the facility's budget for fiscal year 1984.

Under the proposed budget, the hospital is seeking $164,000 in funding from the county, says Charles Corwin, an assistant to the county commissioners. The commissioners will consider the hospital's request as part of the overall 1984 county budget, which the commissioners are beginning to prepare, he said.

Hospital officials would not release any information on the medical center's budget, including the total amount. They would rather wait until the county has reviewed the request, said Tim Gillmore, the hospital president.

The county commissioners probably will study it sometime after the July Fourth holiday, Corwin said.

This will be the first budget proposed by the hospital's new administration. Rural West Management Co. was hired earlier this year to operate the financially troubled hospital.

In January, it was reported that the facility was more than $35,000 in the "red," because of alleged mismanagement by the former hospital administrator and the general economic slump.

Blaine County originally had earmarked $164,000 for the hospital in its 1983 fiscal-year budget. Due to the indebtedness, however, additional county funds were appropriated for the facility.

Obituaries

Alvin L. Sibbett

RUPERT — Alvin L. Sibbett, 90, of Rupert, died Saturday evening at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Born on July 2, 1893, at Sunville, Utah, he later moved to Grays Lake, Idaho. He married Olive Hansen on April 6, 1917. They were divorced.

Prior to his marriage, he had moved to Preyter, Idaho, in 1908, he moved to Rupert where he farmed. In 1964, Mr. Sibbett moved to Sacramento, Calif. where he worked in his son's candy business. He moved back to Rupert in 1972.

Mr. Sibbett attended schools in Grays Lake. He was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Surviving are: three sons, Delmar Sibbett of Rupert, Dan Sibbett of Sacramento and Dale Sibbett of Providence, Utah; one brother, Bert Sibbett of Blackfoot; and one sister, Thelma Gibson of Blackfoot. He is survived by 11 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren.

Mr. Sibbett was preceded in death by two sisters, four brothers and one great-grandson.

The funeral will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Hansen Mortuary Chapel with Bishop David Borden officiating. Burial will be in the Rupert Cemetery. Friends may call at Hansen Mortuary on Tuesday afternoon and evening and prior to the services Wednesday.

Alfred R. Zoerb

RUPERT — Alfred Richard Zoerb, 68, of Rupert, died Saturday evening at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Born Nov. 17, 1914, at Carey, Neb., he attended schools in that state. Mr. Zoerb moved to Rupert in 1945. On Nov. 26, 1945, he married Rola Blehl in Rupert.

Mr. Zoerb was employed by the Union Pacific Railroad for more than 30 years. He was a member and past master of the Rupert Masonic Lodge No. 55. He also was a member of the Episcopal Church, Scottish Rite in Pocatello, the El-Korah Shrine in Boise, Order of the Eastern Star, the Elks Club, the Elks Club, the Elks Club and the Old Time Railroad Association.

Surviving are: his wife of Rupert; one daughter, Mrs. Alana Zoerb of Carey, Neb.; one son, one step-son, Fred Gemmer of Heyburn; two brothers, Marvin Zoerb of Mason City, Neb., and Walter Zoerb of Callaway, two sisters, Mrs. Marie Baker of New Braunfels, Texas, and Mrs. Ada Hoste of Callaway; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Zoerb will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Rupert United Methodist Church. The Rev. Sam Hoiler of the Trinity Episcopal Church will officiate. Burial will be in the Rupert Cemetery with Masonic graveside rites under the direction of the Rupert Masonic Lodge. Friends may call at Hansen Mortuary Tuesday afternoon and evening, and prior to the services Thursday.

Ralph Johnson

HAILEY — Ralph Johnson, 69, of Hailey, died Saturday at Magie Valley Regional Medical Center.

Born Oct. 18, 1913, in Independence, Kan., he came to the Castleford area as a child with his parents. He attended schools in Fairview, Deep Creek and Buhl. He returned to Kansas where he married Dorothy Burr on June 14, 1933.

Mr. Johnson attended high school in Kansas and worked for the Buhl Cattle Co. in Buhl for many years. He sold the business in 1963 and worked at the College of Southern Idaho until 1972. He moved to Hailey in 1971 where he has since resided.

Mr. Johnson was a member of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Buhl.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Jerry Johnson of Hailey and Jonny Johnson of Buhl; a daughter, Janet Kains of Payson, Wash.; three brothers, Rusty Johnson of Buhl, Dusty Johnson of Portland, Ore., and Kenneth Johnson of Hailey, Ore.; two sisters, Vivian Brilant of Twin Falls and Marie Skinner of Buhl; 12 grandchildren; 5 great-grandchildren and 3 step-grandchildren. One son preceded Mr. Johnson in death.

Mass will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday and the rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Immaculate Conception Church in Buhl. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park in Twin Falls. Friends may call at the Farmer Chapel on Tuesday until 6 p.m.

Bertha Mae Christensen

RUPERT — Bertha Mae Christensen, 69, of Overton, Nev., and formerly of Rupert, died Friday in Las Vegas.

Born Sept. 13, 1913, at Tremonton, Utah, she attended schools in Rupert. She married Gilbert M. Christensen in 1932 in Rupert. The couple moved to Las Vegas in 1981.

Mrs. Christensen was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Surviving are her husband of Las Vegas; three daughters, Mrs. Anna Marie Christ of Las Vegas, Mrs. Noreen Harmon of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Olive Woyak of Phoenix, Ariz.; two sons, Gilbert Christensen of Las Vegas and Lloyd Christensen and Lamon Christensen of Anchorage, Alaska; two sisters, Romanda J. Burkhardt of La Harve, Ill., and Dorothy Christensen of Curtis, Russell and George Russell, both of Rupert; Ivan Russell of Dayton, Ohio; and Shelton Russell of Yuma, Ariz. There are 23 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sons.

Graveside services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Rupert Cemetery with Bishop David Borden officiating. Hansen Mortuary is in charge.

Herbert H. Lang

FILER — Herbert H. Lang, 70, of Filer, died Saturday evening at Magie Valley Regional Medical Center after a long illness.

Born Sept. 20, 1912, at Anamosa, N.D., he married Edna Zelmer on May 15, 1935, at McCluskey, N.D. They moved to Filer in May 1956 and owned and operated the Filer Motel for more than 17 years. Mr. Lang worked at the Challenge Creamery in Twin Falls for three years and at Young Dairy in Twin Falls for 16 years, retiring in 1978.

Mr. Lang attended the Filer Missionary Church.

Friends may call at the funeral home today from 5 to 9 p.m. and until the time of the service on Tuesday. The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the American Heart Association.

SHOSHONE

The funeral for Katherine "Katie" A. Whitehead, 64, of Shoshone, died Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Shoshone Baptist Church. Burial will be in Shoshone Cemetery. Friends may call at the Berden Funeral Chapel in Shoshone

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Arden Decker and Darrel Lang of Filer; a sister, Mrs. Ella Alvord of Prescott Valley, Ariz.; four brothers, Raymond, John, Lang and Cliff Lang of Filer; and Sam Lang of Sawyer, N.D. There are three grandchildren.

Four brothers preceded Mr. Lang in death.

Services will be announced by White Mortuary.

Evelyn Irene Thomas

TWIN FALLS — Evelyn Irene Thomas, 63, of Twin Falls, died at her home Friday evening of an illness.

Born Oct. 18, 1919, at Santa Monica, Calif., she married Thomas W. Thomas on July 15, 1939, at Los Angeles. She first came to Twin Falls in 1952 from California, then moved to Oregon for eight or nine years. She later moved back to Twin Falls, returning to Twin Falls in 1980.

Surviving are her husband; a son, Gary D. Thomas of Twin Falls; two brothers, William Vaughan and Ernest Vaughan, both of North Hollywood, Calif.; and a sister, Helen Wolcott of Van Nuys, Calif.

She was preceded in death by one brother and one sister preceded Mrs. Thomas in death.

The funeral for Mrs. Thomas will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the White Mortuary Chapel with Rev. Leslie Lewis officiating. Burial will be in Twin Falls Cemetery. Friends may call at the mortuary from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m. today, Tuesday and until 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Hazel Spencer

BURLEY — Hazel Spencer, 69, of Burley, a long resident of Jerome, died Sunday at St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome. Services will be announced by the Hove-Robertson Funeral Chapel.

Burley — Ben Alfred Molise, 65, of Burley, died Sunday in the Castle Memorial Hospital.

Born Sept. 28, 1918, at Twin Falls, he attended school at Murter and married Stella M. Rogers in Burley on Jan. 17, 1949. In 1950 he opened the Elks Club which he has operated since. Mr. Molise enlisted in the Navy during World War II, serving on the aircraft carrier USS Pocumoke and U.S.S. Corregidor and was discharged from the service with a perfect character reference.

Mr. Molise was a member of the Catholic church and the Burley Elks Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, of Burley; a brother, Lloyd Molise of Modesto, Calif.; and four sisters, Mrs. Mary St. John of Green Acres, Wash., Mrs. Flora Green of Burley, and Olivia Truett, both of Boise, and Mrs. Inez Wilson of San Jose, Calif. There are two grandchildren, Shanna Marie and Brenda Kay Molise. One son, Ronald, preceded him in death.

Mr. Molise's remains were cremated. The family suggests that those who desire may make memorials to the Idaho Elks Rehabilitation Hospital in Boise. Arrangements were under direction of Payne Chapel in Burley.

Continued from Page B1

would receive "a cash scholarship, crown, banner and round-trip flight to the national pageant."

However, when Lori Llamas, the state director, was contacted in Los Angeles, she said the top prize would be $500. If under 50 girls entered, the prize would increase to $300, she said. The others will get ribbons.

Each contestant in Llamas's contest has to put in $175 in sponsorship money.

The Times-News was unable to reach Pam Printner of Lehigh Acres, Fla., the national director, for further details on the finances of the pageant.

The press releases also do not mention that the state director has purchased the right to run the pageant from the national organization.

Sybil Schaeffer of Stone Mountain, Ga., has gotten into the spirit of product proliferation. She has franchised to the Miss National Teenager Miss National Pre-Teen and Miss National Little Miss pageants.

Briefly

California man dies in crash

KETCHUM — A 46-year-old Foster City, Calif., man was killed in a one-car accident Sunday after he, apparently, tried to avoid hitting three horses that had wandered onto the highway about six miles north of Ketchum, Idaho State Police said.

The victim was identified as William Lewis Alexander. Alexander was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, which occurred at 12:20 a.m. on Idaho 75. According to ISP reports, the car went off the road and overturned. Alexander was partially ejected and crushed underneath the car.

The victim's passenger, Melissa Hughes, 30, age available, also of Foster City, was treated and released at Blaine County Medical Center in Hailey.

Owner of the animals is not known.

Hospital renovation starts

SUN VALLEY — The ground has been "broken" officially for the start of a $1.6 million renovation project at Moritz Community Hospital in Sun Valley.

After the ceremony, the first order of building will be framing in the space to be added around the clinic, laboratory and patient areas, says Alan Stevenson, the hospital's administrator.

The obstetrics department, nursery, kitchen and operating room also will be improved and expanded. Altogether, 7,000 square feet will be built onto the 27-bed hospital. No new beds, however, will be added.

The work will be divided into four phases to prevent hindering the hospital's operation. The project should be completed in 15 months, Stevenson says.

Schellway and Co. of Boise is the general contractor.

Search on for missing rafter

BLISS — Gooding and Twin Falls County sheriff's deputies searched into Sunday night for an unidentified man who fell off a raft into the swift and rough waters of the Snake River three miles south of Bliss.

The man, whose name was not released, and six other men and women were rafting down the river as a professional raft excursion, Gooding County Sheriff Robert Aja said. The man was thrown out of the 10-man rubber raft when the Malad River empties into the Snake River. He was not wearing a life preserver.

The rest of the party could not locate him and went to shore to notify authorities. The incident occurred between 3 and 4 p.m.

Aja and his five deputies were joined in the search by Twin Falls Sheriff Jim Munn and a deputy, and other volunteers. A jet boat surveyed the section of river when the incident occurred.

"The way it is, it doesn't look good," Aja said Sunday night. He added that the search would continue through the night.

Aja declined to release the name of the company that organized the raft trip.

This week On the Agenda

at CSI

TWIN FALLS — Here's the calendar of events and meetings that will take place this week at the College of Southern Idaho.

TODAY

The college will be closed for the holiday.

TUESDAY

The abuse therapy group of the Department of Health and Welfare will meet from 5 to 10 p.m. in rooms 115, 116, 117 and 118 of the Shields Building.

WEDNESDAY

The abuse therapy group will meet again from 5 to 10 p.m. in rooms 115, 116, 117 and 118 of the Shields Building.

THURSDAY

Here's a list of governmental meetings that are scheduled to take place this week in the Magie Valley. This list is compiled from advance schedules. The Times-News suggests that you confirm the information by calling the appropriate clerk's office before attending one of these meetings.

FRIDAY

Jerome City Council will meet at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

The Jerome County commission will meet at 9 a.m. at the Courthouse.

Ketchum City Council will meet at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

Rupert City Council will meet at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

Shoshone City Council will meet at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

Twin Falls City Council will meet at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

WEDNESDAY

Bliss City Council will meet at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

THURSDAY

Glenns Ferry City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Junior Miss contest, Thornberg says.

Thornberg also judged the Idaho Miss National Teenager pageant. It was disorganized and shoddy, he says.

Each contest also counts the judging contestants differently. Some tests even consider themselves scholarship programs, rather than beauty pageants.

The Junior Miss program counts the judge's interview for 35 percent of the points and the talent section for another 20 percent. Poise, physical fitness and scholastic achievement account for the rest of the points.

Contestants in the Miss T.E.E.N. contest are judged equally in the talent, poise, physical fitness, scholastic achievement and individual interviews.

Miss Utah Teenager does not require a talent presentation. Scholastic and civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality are what count in this contest.

Before anyone rushes off to enter a contest, Thornberg urges them to investigate. Check on the entry fees, the management and call previous contestants, he says.

Thornberg also says that girls should find out if the contest operates in all 50 states; what categories are weighed most and how many contestants there are.

"If a pageant has only 100 contestants, it is just after the money," he says.

And girls might not want to enter a contest that just emphasizes their physical attributes, he says.

$1 million sought in lawsuit

TWIN FALLS — The family of a Challis man killed in a 1981 accident at the Cypress Thompson Creek Mine has filed a $1 million wrongful-death action in Fifth District Court in Twin Falls.

The lawsuit, filed last week, stems from the death of Jerry Allen Johnson, who was electrocuted on June 29, 1981, as he attempted to replace high-voltage lamps on a lighting tower.

Damages are sought on behalf of Johnson's wife, Connie, and their five children, all of whom live in Twin Falls.

Named as defendants in the lawsuit are the companies that manufactured the lighting tower and the firms that supervised the work at the Cypress Thompson mine. Among the companies named are: Kohler Co., Appleton Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corp., Cypress Mines Corp. and Brown and Root Inc.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

The lawsuit contends that the lighting tower and its components were defective. It also accuses the defendants of negligently failing to warn the victim of the dangers involved in the use of the tower and failing to provide the system with a grounding rod to prevent electrocution.

Services

GOODING — The funeral for Blanche B. Miller, 84, of Gooding, who died Wednesday, will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Demary's Gooding Chapel. Burial will be in Elmwood Cemetery at Gooding. Friends may call at the funeral home today from 1 to 7 p.m.

TWIN FALLS — The funeral for Ivy Steinhilber, 72, of Twin Falls, who died Friday, will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at White Mortuary Chapel in Twin Falls. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

HAILEY — The funeral for Mrs. Mary Ann Miller, 84, of Hailey, who died Wednesday, will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Hansen Mortuary Chapel. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park.

HAILEY — The funeral for Mrs. Mary Ann Miller, 84, of Hailey, who

- Baseball roundup B5
- Watson leads Western Open B5
- Legion baseball, golf B5

Americans rewrite record books in 100

By MIKE RABIN
United Press International

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Calvin Smith and Evelyn Ashford became the fastest 100-meter sprinters in history Sunday, both breaking world records in the space of 10 minutes on the final day of the National Sports Festival.

Ashford, who earlier in the day had anchored a 4x100 relay team that missed the world record by 0.01, ran the women's 100 in 10.79 seconds to break the world record of 10.81 set by East Germany's Marlies Göhr earlier this year. Minutes later Smith ripped down the 100-meter track clock to 9.93, wiping out the 15-year-old record of 9.94 set at the 1968 Olympics by Jim Hines.

The American duo broke records from the 1968 Olympics, when Smith won the 100-meter sprint in 10.0 seconds. Smith's record time also put the pressure on Carl Lewis, who has consistently been America's "fastest" man.

Smith, 23, ran the 100 in 9.93, earlier this year.

The records came on a mild afternoon that was alternately breezy and calm. But by the time the sprinters were running, the wind had calmed to under the allowable velocity of 2 meters per second. Smith had run a 9.91 last year but the time was not recognized as a record because of the wind.

"It was (breeze) about passing up this race because I needed the rest," said Smith, of Bolton, Miss., and the University of Alabama. "But when I finished third at The Athletics Congress meet, I decided to skip it."

"I knew it was a good time. I had a good start, but I didn't know I had the record. I was pumping my arms real hard at the end."

Smith's coach, who told him to pump harder at the end of the race and I did."

Wally Smith took his record with a degree of calm. Ashford, who was overwhelmed.

"I'm stunned. Just stunned," said Ashford, from Venice, Calif. "I didn't wake up until the last 20 meters. I was not aware I was putting that much effort into it. I just ran."

"I wanted to come here and get my confidence back. I wanted to give Marlies Göhr something to think about. Now she has something to think about."

Ashford lops German mark

(UPI photo)

(UPI photo)

Calvin Smith crosses the finish line at the National Sports Festival, erasing Jim Hines' 15-year-old world record in the 100

Jovial McEnroe wins Wimbledon in walk

By SALLY WILSON
Dallas Morning News

LONDON — The biggest upset of Wimbledon 1983 took place after it was over.

It wasn't the early departure of Wimbledon's former sweetheart, Jimmy Connors and Chris Evert Lloyd. It wasn't the strange appearance in the final of Chris Lewis, the man with the Mick Jagger face and 91st ranking. It wasn't the strange disappearance of rain for 14 straight London afternoons.

It was this: John McEnroe smiled. Cradling the glittering gold championship cup in his arms, McEnroe took a playful shuffle step toward a horde of photographers on Centre Court. He smiled. He kissed the trophy and then did it again when beckoned. McEnroe's 6-2, 6-2 victory over Lewis Sunday wasn't nearly as fun to watch as this.

The championship match, which lasted one hour and 27 minutes — shortest in the 75 years of the Open era — went exactly as projected, anticlimactically ending a tournament that never seemed to have a climax. When Lewis was asked afterward if he would have done anything differently, he said: "I'd just have to be a better player."

behaved as if he and Wimbledon's omnipotent committee had been pub buddies for years.

In the umpire's chair sat Malcolm Huntingdon, a double-fisted enemy of sorts. Not only is Huntingdon the umpire McEnroe had words with in his second-round match, he is the sports editor of the Yorkshire Press. McEnroe's relationship with British writers is less than cozy. But on Sunday, Huntingdon's involvement was limited to two overrules, both in McEnroe's favor.

The scene afterward was almost too abrupt a turnaround from 1981, when McEnroe stormed back to New York and triggered "It stuck it to Wimbledon" by not attending the champions' dinner. After beating Lewis, McEnroe circled the court, holding up the trophy to applauding fans. When a champagne bottle popped open in the standing section, McEnroe stuck his hand out.

"I've never seen him smile so much in my life," a long-time British tennis official said. "McEnroe never had seen a Wimbledon title come to him with such ease, particularly in the final. His largest hurdle was No. 3 seed Ivan Lendl, whom McEnroe beat in straight sets in the semifinals. The victory over Lewis was the least troublesome. Tina Alice Connors embarrassed Ken Rosewall, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4, in 1974."

"This feels great, no question about it," said McEnroe, who started joking with the press as soon as he walked into this interview room. A reporter began a question. "You seem to have regained..." and McEnroe finished: "My humor."

"This was a great opportunity, not playing (Bjorn) Borg or Connors in the final," said McEnroe, who won $110,000. "I think people will be surprised if Chris gets to another Wimbledon final. A lot of people expected it to be one-sided. I knew what I had to do. I was all over him."

McEnroe overwhelmed the 25-year-old New Zealander from the start, breaking in the third game of love. McEnroe moved in on Lewis' second serve and, with quicker reflexes, won a volley exchange on his first break point. Lewis, the Ozzie Smith of grass courts, gave Kevin Curren trouble in the semifinals by diving all over for balls and sending them back after Curren thought he had the point. Against McEnroe, he never had a play.

"There was absolutely nothing to do," said Lewis, who earned $55,000 for the tournament. "My speed was just about useless. He hit cold winners. When I took back, I definitely lost to the best player in the tournament, so I'm not going to get down."

Lewis won nine points on McEnroe's serve the entire match and never got to break point. Despite getting no aces, McEnroe kept

JOHN MCENROE
No contest

Lewis off-balance by serving down the middle and then drilling his most effective serve, wide to Lewis' backhand. In the ad court, first service percentage — McEnroe had 62 percent, Lewis 61 — didn't matter in Lewis' case. On the fifth game of the second set, he got 6-0-6 and was broken at 30 with a series of forehand passing shots. McEnroe was 1-of-5 in the next game and held 31-15.

"You never know where it's coming to," said Lewis of the left-hander's serve. "He's an artist with his racket. He's so unlike anyone in the game."

Panthers win title; Blitz get wild card

By United Press International

USEFL

The final weekend of the USFL's regular season saw the Michigan Panthers break out the champagne in celebration of their Central Division championship. Their beaten foe said the bubbly will flow again on July 17.

In Pontiac, Mich., running back Ken Lacy shocked Arizona with a 38-yard option pass for a touchdown to Derek Holloway and then scored on a 9-yard run on Michigan's next possession Sunday, leading the Panthers to a 37-7 rout of the Wranglers. Michigan, which will play host to Pacific Division champion Oakland next Sunday in one of two playoff games, finished 12-6 after closing the regular season with 11 wins in its last 13 games.

In the other opening-round playoff game, Philadelphia, which breezed to the Atlantic Division title with a 15-3 mark, will play host Saturday to Chicago, the wild-card entry. The USFL's inaugural championship game will be played in Denver's Mile High Stadium on July 17. Lacy rolled out to his right as though to sweep and then lofted a scoring pass to fellow rookie Holloway. On Michigan's next possession, the Panthers needed just five plays to travel 57 yards, with Lacy going the last 9 to give the Panthers a 14-0 lead midway through the opening period.

Rookie quarterback Bobby Hebert electrified the Panthers' second-largest crowd of the season, 31,065, when he unloaded a 68-yard TD pass to Anthony Carter with 42 seconds left in the half.

Chicago 31, Oakland 7

At Chicago, the Blitz defense registered nine sacks to leave Chicago at 12-6 heading into their playoff game at Veterans Stadium. Don Schwartz and Eddie Brown ran back third-quarter interceptions for TDs to support the furious Chicago pass rush and the Blitz held Oakland to just 62 yards in total offense for the first three quarters.

Washington 21, Philadelphia 14
At Washington, quarterback Kim McQuilken threw for 208 yards and one touchdown and ran 1 yard for the winning score to pace the Redskins to a surprising win. The Redskins erased a 14-7 halftime deficit with two long scoring drives in the second half. Washington, 4-14, finished with three victories in its final four games.

Boston 34, New Jersey 10
In Boston, Richard Crump and Anthony Steele ran for second-quarter TDs to power the Breakers. Boston, 1-17, was nevertheless eliminated from a wild-card playoff berth with Chicago's victory. Herschel Walker, the league's leading rusher, had 74 yards in 18 carries for New Jersey, 6-12, to finish with 1,812 yards.

Los Angeles 21, Denver 14
At Los Angeles, Express defenders tied a league record with six interceptions and Mike Rae tossed a pair of touchdowns passes. The triumph, before 11,471 fans, enabled Los Angeles, 8-10, to finish second in the Pacific Division. Denver, 7-11, wound up third.

Scoreboard

Baseball

NL standings

Team	W	L	Pct.
Atlanta	47	10	.826
Los Angeles	46	11	.807
San Diego	45	12	.789
San Francisco	44	13	.771
Philadelphia	43	14	.754
St. Louis	42	15	.737
Chicago	41	16	.719
Cincinnati	40	17	.702
Montreal	39	18	.685
San Francisco	38	19	.668
Los Angeles	37	20	.651
San Diego	36	21	.634
Philadelphia	35	22	.617
St. Louis	34	23	.600
Chicago	33	24	.583
Cincinnati	32	25	.566
Montreal	31	26	.549
San Francisco	30	27	.532
Los Angeles	29	28	.515
San Diego	28	29	.498
Philadelphia	27	30	.481
St. Louis	26	31	.464
Chicago	25	32	.447
Cincinnati	24	33	.430
Montreal	23	34	.413
San Francisco	22	35	.396
Los Angeles	21	36	.379
San Diego	20	37	.362
Philadelphia	19	38	.345
St. Louis	18	39	.328
Chicago	17	40	.311
Cincinnati	16	41	.294
Montreal	15	42	.277
San Francisco	14	43	.260
Los Angeles	13	44	.243
San Diego	12	45	.226
Philadelphia	11	46	.209
St. Louis	10	47	.192
Chicago	9	48	.175
Cincinnati	8	49	.158
Montreal	7	50	.141
San Francisco	6	51	.124
Los Angeles	5	52	.107
San Diego	4	53	.090
Philadelphia	3	54	.073
St. Louis	2	55	.056
Chicago	1	56	.039
Cincinnati	0	57	.022
Montreal	0	58	.005
San Francisco	0	59	.000
Los Angeles	0	60	.000
San Diego	0	61	.000
Philadelphia	0	62	.000
St. Louis	0	63	.000
Chicago	0	64	.000
Cincinnati	0	65	.000
Montreal	0	66	.000
San Francisco	0	67	.000
Los Angeles	0	68	.000
San Diego	0	69	.000
Philadelphia	0	70	.000
St. Louis	0	71	.000
Chicago	0	72	.000
Cincinnati	0	73	.000
Montreal	0	74	.000
San Francisco	0	75	.000
Los Angeles	0	76	.000
San Diego	0	77	.000
Philadelphia	0	78	.000
St. Louis	0	79	.000
Chicago	0	80	.000
Cincinnati	0	81	.000
Montreal	0	82	.000
San Francisco	0	83	.000
Los Angeles	0	84	.000
San Diego	0	85	.000
Philadelphia	0	86	.000
St. Louis	0	87	.000
Chicago	0	88	.000
Cincinnati	0	89	.000
Montreal	0	90	.000
San Francisco	0	91	.000
Los Angeles	0	92	.000
San Diego	0	93	.000
Philadelphia	0	94	.000
St. Louis	0	95	.000
Chicago	0	96	.000
Cincinnati	0	97	.000
Montreal	0	98	.000
San Francisco	0	99	.000
Los Angeles	0	100	.000

MLB standings

Team	W	L	Pct.
Atlanta	47	10	.826
Los Angeles	46	11	.807
San Diego	45	12	.789
San Francisco	44	13	.771
Philadelphia	43	14	.754
St. Louis	42	15	.737
Chicago	41	16	.719
Cincinnati	40	17	.702
Montreal	39	18	.685
San Francisco	38	19	.668
Los Angeles	37	20	.651
San Diego	36	21	.634
Philadelphia	35	22	.617
St. Louis	34	23	.600
Chicago	33	24	.583
Cincinnati	32	25	.566
Montreal	31	26	.549
San Francisco	30	27	.532
Los Angeles	29	28	.515
San Diego	28	29	.498
Philadelphia	27	30	.481
St. Louis	26	31	.464
Chicago	25	32	.447
Cincinnati	24	33	.430
Montreal	23	34	.413
San Francisco	22	35	.396
Los Angeles	21	36	.379
San Diego	20	37	.362
Philadelphia	19	38	.345
St. Louis	18	39	.328
Chicago	17	40	.311
Cincinnati	16	41	.294
Montreal	15	42	.277
San Francisco	14	43	.260
Los Angeles	13	44	.243
San Diego	12	45	.226
Philadelphia	11	46	.209
St. Louis	10	47	.192
Chicago	9	48	.175
Cincinnati	8	49	.158
Montreal	7	50	.141
San Francisco	6	51	.124
Los Angeles	5	52	.107
San Diego	4	53	.090
Philadelphia	3	54	.073
St. Louis	2	55	.056
Chicago	1	56	.039
Cincinnati	0	57	.022
Montreal	0	58	.005
San Francisco	0	59	.000
Los Angeles	0	60	.000
San Diego	0	61	.000
Philadelphia	0	62	.000
St. Louis	0	63	.000
Chicago	0	64	.000
Cincinnati	0	65	.000
Montreal	0	66	.000
San Francisco	0	67	.000
Los Angeles	0	68	.000
San Diego	0	69	.000
Philadelphia	0	70	.000
St. Louis	0	71	.000
Chicago	0	72	.000
Cincinnati	0	73	.000
Montreal	0	74	.000
San Francisco	0	75	.000
Los Angeles	0	76	.000
San Diego	0	77	.000
Philadelphia	0	78	.000
St. Louis	0	79	.000
Chicago	0	80	.000
Cincinnati	0	81	.000
Montreal	0	82	.000
San Francisco	0	83	.000
Los Angeles	0	84	.000
San Diego	0	85	.000
Philadelphia	0	86	.000
St. Louis	0	87	.000
Chicago	0	88	.000
Cincinnati	0	89	.000
Montreal	0	90	.000
San Francisco	0	91	.000
Los Angeles	0	92	.000
San Diego	0	93	.000
Philadelphia	0	94	.000
St. Louis	0	95	.000
Chicago	0	96	.000
Cincinnati	0	97	.000
Montreal	0	98	.000
San Francisco	0	99	.000
Los Angeles	0	100	.000

AL standings

Team	W	L	Pct.
Atlanta	47	10	.826
Los Angeles	46	11	.807
San Diego	45	12	.789
San Francisco	44	13	.771
Philadelphia	43	14	.754
St. Louis	42	15	.737
Chicago	41	16	.719
Cincinnati	40	17	.702
Montreal	39	18	.685
San Francisco	38	19	.668
Los Angeles	37	20	.651
San Diego	36	21	.634
Philadelphia	35	22	.617
St. Louis	34	23	.600
Chicago	33	24	.583
Cincinnati	32	25	.566
Montreal	31	26	.549
San Francisco	30	27	.532
Los Angeles	29	28	.515
San Diego	28	29	.498
Philadelphia	27	30	.481
St. Louis	26	31	.464
Chicago	25	32	.447
Cincinnati	24	33	.430
Montreal	23	34	.413
San Francisco	22	35	.396
Los Angeles	21	36	.379
San Diego	20	37	.362
Philadelphia	19	38	.345
St. Louis	18	39	.328
Chicago	17	40	.311
Cincinnati	16	41	.294
Montreal	15	42	.277
San Francisco	14	43	.260
Los Angeles	13	44	.243
San Diego	12	45	.226
Philadelphia	11	46	.209
St. Louis	10	47	.192
Chicago	9	48	.175
Cincinnati	8	49	.158
Montreal	7	50	.141
San Francisco	6	51	.124
Los Angeles	5	52	.107
San Diego	4	53	.090
Philadelphia	3	54	.073
St. Louis	2	55	.056
Chicago	1	56	.039
Cincinnati	0	57	.022
Montreal	0	58	.005
San Francisco	0	59	.000
Los Angeles	0	60	.000
San Diego	0	61	.000
Philadelphia	0	62	.000
St. Louis	0	63	.000
Chicago	0	64	.000
Cincinnati	0	65	.000
Montreal	0	66	.000
San Francisco	0	67	.000
Los Angeles	0	68	.000
San Diego	0	69	.000
Philadelphia	0	70	.000
St. Louis	0	71	.000
Chicago	0	72	.000
Cincinnati	0	73	.000
Montreal	0	74	.000
San Francisco	0	75	.000
Los Angeles	0	76	.000
San Diego	0	77	.000
Philadelphia	0	78	.000
St. Louis	0	79	.000
Chicago	0	80	.000
Cincinnati	0	81	.000
Montreal	0	82	.000
San Francisco	0	83	.000
Los Angeles	0	84	.000
San Diego	0	85	.000
Philadelphia	0	86	.000
St. Louis	0	87	.000
Chicago	0	88	.000
Cincinnati	0	89	.000
Montreal	0	90	.000
San Francisco	0	91	.000
Los Angeles	0	92	.000
San Diego	0	93	.000
Philadelphia	0	94	.000
St. Louis	0	95	.000
Chicago	0	96	.000
Cincinnati	0	97	.000
Montreal	0	98	.000
San Francisco	0	99	.000
Los Angeles	0	100	.000

AL box scores

Team	W	L	Pct.
Atlanta	47	10	.826
Los Angeles	46	11	.807
San Diego	45	12	.789
San Francisco	44	13	.771
Philadelphia	43	14	.754
St. Louis	42	15	.737
Chicago	41	16	.719
Cincinnati	40	17	.702
Montreal	39	18	.685
San Francisco	38	19	.668
Los Angeles	37	20	.651
San Diego	36	21	.634
Philadelphia	35	22	.617
St. Louis	34	23	.600
Chicago	33	24	.583
Cincinnati	32	25	.566
Montreal	31	26	.549
San Francisco	30	27	.532
Los Angeles	29	28	.515
San Diego	28	29	.498
Philadelphia	27	30	.481
St. Louis	26	31	.464
Chicago	25	32	.447
Cincinnati	24	33	.430
Montreal	23	34	.413
San Francisco	22	35	.396
Los Angeles	21	36	.379
San Diego	20	37	.362

Baseball

Rangers unload on Oakland for 12 runs in 15th inning

By United Press International

The game was closer than the final score indicated. Bobby Jones doubled twice and had three RBIs to highlight a major league record-setting 12-run 15th inning Sunday that gave the surging Texas Rangers a 16-4 triumph over the A's at Oakland, Calif., for their 11th victory in 13 games.

The Rangers, who sent 16 men to the plate in the 15th, broke the record of the 1928 New York Yankees and 1969 Minnesota Twins for most runs in an extra inning. The Yankees scored 11 in the 12th inning against the Detroit Tigers on July 25, 1929, and it was equaled by the Twins in the 10th inning on June 21, 1969, against the Oakland A's.

Boston 7, New York 3

At New York, Gary Alenson hit a three-run homer and Jim Rice belted his sixth homer in his last four games to carry the Red Sox. Alenson capped a four-run Boston fourth with his first homer of the season and the 15th of his five-year career. Rice hit his major-league leading 22nd home run.

Seattle 4, Toronto 1

At Toronto, Glenn Abbott tossed a five-hitter to outduel Dave Stieb and Pat Putnam hit a two-run homer for the Mariners, playing their 1,000th game in the American League.

Detroit 10, Baltimore 1

At Detroit, John Wocken hit a pinch hit grand slam and Juan Berenguer, 4-1, and Doug Bair combined on a three-hitter, helping the Tigers snap the Orioles' three-game winning streak.

Minnesota 4, Chicago 3

At Minneapolis, Ron Washington's bases-loaded single to right with two out in the ninth scoring Bobby Mitchell with the winning run for the Twins.

California 5, Kansas City 2

At Anaheim, Calif., Bobby Grich delivered a two-run single and Ron Jackson hit a two-run homer for the Angels. Ken Forsch, 8-4, scattered eight hits. Bud Black, 9-3, belted his third straight loss. California's Rick Burdison is 7-for-13 since his return to the lineup from a shoulder injury.

Cleveland 5, Milwaukee 2

At Cleveland, Rick Stults scattered seven hits over 9 1/2 innings and Toby Harrah belted a two-run homer to pace the Indians before a crowd of 50,008.

Braun's pinch-hit homer lifts Cards to victory over Bucs

By United Press International

In the pinch, the Cardinals' Steve Braun had what it takes Sunday.

Pinch hitter Steve Braun hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie and second baseman Tom Herr saved the game with a diving catch in the ninth inning to lift St. Louis to a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Philadelphia 6, New York 4

At Philadelphia, Mike Schmidt led off the bottom of the eighth with his 15th homer of the season to lead the Phillies.

Cincinnati 2, Atlanta 1

At Atlanta, rookie Nick Esasky belted a two-out, two-run homer in the sixth inning to help the Reds break an Atlanta four-game winning streak. Paul Householder led off the sixth with an infield hit off Craig McMurtry, 8-5. Two outs later, Esasky drilled an 8-2 pitch for his second homer of the year.

Chicago 7, Montreal 4

At Chicago, Keith Moreland, who homered earlier, blooped a double to ignite a three-run sixth inning that led the Cubs to their sixth straight victory. The loss was Montreal's fifth straight and trimmed the Expos' lead to one game over Philadelphia in the National League East.

San Diego 4, San Francisco 1

At San Diego, Steve Garvey hit the fifth grand slam of his career in the fifth inning and left-hander Dave Dravecky tossed a five-hitter for his 12th victory in leading the Padres to victory.

Houston 8, Los Angeles 1

At Houston, Jose Cruz hit his second three-run homer in as many games and Joe Niekro tossed a three-hitter to lead the Astros to victory.

Moody squimiel wins Valley mixed scramble

TWIN FALLS — Bob Moody squimiel won the first "gross honors" Sunday in the annual day of the Mad Valley Mixed Scramble at the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course.

The five combined for an 11-under-par score. Dennis Sullivan's team (Harry Sawyer, Ed Sawyer, and Bob Moody) finished with a 10-under-par score. Sullivan's team was the only one to finish under par.

Moody's group with 9 and 10 and Chubb's group with 10 and 11 finished with a 10-under-par score. The tournament will conclude today.

Watson tops Western Open field

OAK BROOK, Ill. (UPI) — Tom Watson, looking for his first title in a year, battled windy and soggy conditions to scramble to a 1-under-par 71 Sunday and take a four-stroke lead after the second round of the rain-plagued $400,000 Western Open.

Watson, overcoming gusty winds in excess of 25 miles per hour and muggy weather, has a two-round total of 6-under-par 138. His lead was the biggest after 36 holes on any PGA event this year.

The tournament will conclude today.

Stacy captures Jackson Classic

MONTREAL (UPI) — Hollis Stacy of Hilton Head, S.C., fired a sparkling 68 to hold off final-round charges by Bill of Farnham, JoAnne Carner, Rose Jones and Alice Miller Sunday with the $250,000 Peter Jackson Classic by two strokes.

Stacy, who began the day in a four-way tie for second place at 7-under-par, with Jan Stephenson, White and Sandra Sprulch, gained two strokes on the front nine and two more on the back.

Buhl, Jerome to meet in tournament finals

BUHL — Jerome whipped Wood River 18-5 and host Buhl routed Gooding-Wendell 14-4 here Saturday night in the opening round of the Sagebrush Days American Legion baseball tournament.

The tourney will conclude here tonight, with Wood River meeting Gooding-Wendell at 6 p.m. and Buhl facing Jerome at 6:30 p.m.

UPI photo
American Bruce Hayes swims to silver medal in 400 medley

Soviet domination of U-Games continues

EDMONTON, Alberta, (UPI) — Canada's Alex Baumann, making the first strike in what he hopes will be a gold rush, Sunday night came within 0.02 second of breaking the world record in the men's 400-meter individual medley at the World University Games.

In other events, the Soviet Union held fast to its dominance in women's gymnastics and women's swimming to capture two gold medals and a Chinese upset world champion Megan Neyer of the U.S. for the top finish in the women's diving competition.

Baumann, who already owns the world mark in the 200-meter individual medley, put on a superb exhibition of his versatility in clocking 4 minutes, 19.90 seconds, 4.19 seconds last year by Ricardo Prado of Brazil, who finished third in the race with a time of 4:26.87.

Bruce Hayes of the U.S. posted a time of 4:26.05 to win the silver medal. Baumann entered in seven events at the games, took the lead from Prado in the breaststroke portion of the event and widened his margin over the rest of the field in the final freestyle leg. "I didn't think I was that close to the world record," he said. "I saw Prado at the 200 meters. I thought that if I was with him at the 200, I had a pretty good chance at the world record."

PUBLIC Auction

SHAKE RIVER AUCTION

Every Saturday 10 A.M.

Thursday, July 7
Jai or evening auction
Echt Advertisement July 3

Friday, July 8
Household, Gooding
Exonant Sale
Advertisement July 3
Masters & Osborne

Saturday, July 9
Gooding Consignment
Advertisement July 7
Masters & Osborne

Monday, July 11
Wholesale Groceries
Potato & Miscellaneous Equipment
Advertisement July 9
Went, Ellen, Bennett & Messersmith

Saturday, July 23
Complete Dairy Disposal
Advertisement July 21
Went, Ellen, Bennett & Messersmith

Announcements 001-002

Classified index

Announcements

- 001 Florists
- 002 Lost & Found
- 003 Announcements
- 004 Special notices
- 005 Memorial notices
- 006 Pets & pet supplies
- 007 Auctions

Selected offers

- 007 Jobs of interest
- 008 Sales people
- 009 Employment agencies
- 010 Professional services
- 015 Babysitters
- 016 Situations wanted
- 017 Business opportunities
- 018 Income property
- 020 Money to loan
- 021 Money wanted
- 022 Business wanted
- 025 Instruction
- 026 Music lessons

Real estate

- 029 Open houses
- 030 Homes for sale
- 031 Out-of-town homes
- 032 Buhi-Flair homes
- 033 Kimberly-Hansen homes
- 034 Jerome homes
- 035 Acres & ranches
- 036 Farms & ranches
- 037 Acreage & lots
- 038 Business property
- 040 Cemeteries
- 041 Vacation property
- 044 Condominiums for sale
- 045 Mobile homes for sale

Rentals

- 050 Furnished houses
- 051 Unfurnished houses
- 052 Furn. apts. & duplexes
- 054 Unfurn. apts. & duplexes
- 056 Rooms for rent
- 057 Rental mobile homes
- 058 Office & business rental
- 059 Condominiums for rent
- 061 Garage rentals
- 065 Warehouse/rental
- 066 Tourist and trailer rental
- 066 Mobile home space

Merchandise

- 067 Misc. for sale
- 068 Computers
- 069 Camera equipment
- 070 Wanted to buy
- 071 Shoes and clothing
- 072 Antiques
- 074 Musical instruments
- 075 Office equipment
- 077 Radios, TVs & stereos
- 078 Furniture & carpets

Farmers' market

- 095 Fertilizer & top soil
- 096 Farm seed
- 097 Hay, grain & feed
- 098 Farms for sale
- 099 Pastures for rent
- 100 Livestock wanted
- 101 Animal breeding
- 102 Cattle
- 104 Horses
- 105 Horse equipment
- 106 Swine
- 108 Sheep
- 110 Poultry & rabbits
- 112 Irrigation
- 113 Farms & ranch supplies
- 114 Farm implements
- 115 Farm work wanted

Recreational

- 120 Aviation
- 121 Boats & marine items
- 122 Sporting goods
- 123 Hunting equipment
- 124 Snow vehicles
- 125 Travel trailers
- 126 Campers & shells
- 127 Motor homes
- 128 Utility trailers

Automotive

- 131 Auto service
- 132 Auto parts & accessories
- 133 Autos wanted
- 134 Autos for sale
- 135 Cycles & supplies
- 136 Heavy equipment
- 140 Trucks
- 141 Import sports cars
- 146 Antique autos
- 149 Autos - All occasions
- 152 Autos - Buick
- 154 Autos - Cadillac
- 156 Autos - Chrysler
- 158 Autos - Oldsmobile
- 162 Autos - Ford
- 168 Autos - Lincoln-Mercury
- 169 Autos - Oldsmobile
- 172 Autos - Pontiac
- 173 Autos - Plymouth
- 174 Autos - Other
- 175 Autos - Other
- 340 Business directory

LEGAL NOTICE

STATE OF IDAHO, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, in the Matter of the Amendment of Nuisance Weeds Regulations, NOTICE OF INTENDED AGENCY ACTION. PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the undersigned proposes to amend the regulations of the Department of Agriculture concerning Nuisance Weeds pursuant to the procedure prescribed by Section 27-2401, Idaho Code, and that the authority for amending such regulations is provided by Section 22-243, Idaho Code. PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the undersigned proposes to amend the Nuisance Weeds Regulations by adding the following: (4) weed species to the Nuisance Weeds List: Burdock (Solanum rostratum), Jointed Goatweed (Aegilops cylindrica), Poison Hemlock (Conium maculatum), and Tansy Ragwort (Tanacetum officinale). The proposed change will facilitate control of noxious weeds already present in the state and will enable authorities to prevent entrance of exotic species into the state. Control agencies will be given regulatory authority in problem areas caused by these species. PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that a complete and correct amendment may be obtained from the undersigned at 120 Klotz Lane, Boise, Idaho, or by writing the undersigned at P.O. Box 700, Boise, Idaho 83721. PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that for the purpose of determining whether the proposed amendment will be adopted as stated above, any person or proposed amendment matter may submit oral or written testimony to the undersigned on or before July 11, 1983, at the aforementioned address. This department shall fully consider and consider all written and oral submissions concerning the amendment received on or before this date. Unless twenty-five or more persons or governmental subdivision or agency, or an association presenting a petition signed by not less than twenty-five members of the organization, make a written request for a general hearing on the proposed amendments on or before July 11, 1983, such general hearing shall be convened. Any hearing (all) will be accessible to the physically disabled. Interpreters for persons with hearing impairments and braille or taped information for persons with visual impairments can be obtained upon five (5) days notice. For arrangements, contact the undersigned at 334-3240. DATED: This 8th day of June, 1983. Max Hansen, Director. IDAHO DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, Monday, June 20, 20, 27, and July 4, 1983.

Announcements

001-Florists
Marjorie's Flowers for less, delivered, Twin Falls, Idaho, 545 Sparks, 734-2021.
Summer is here and to find garage sale season! Find bargains there are and tell everyone where yours will be. Ads in classified.

002-Lost & Found
CHECK-DAILY FOR CURRENT FOUND POUND NEWS
BUY A WEAR A LIFETIME LICENSE
NOW AT THE TWIN FALLS ANIMAL SHELTER, LOCATED: 136 8TH AVE. W.
1. Shepherd, female, black
2. Lab male, gold
3. Cocker spaniel, female, black, brown, white
4. Lab, female, black
5. Lab, male, black
6. Lab, male, black
7. Shepherd, male, black
8. Lab, female, white
Hours 8:00-5:00 daily
Monday thru Friday
Call 733-0000 ext 284
Exciting dogs are brought in every hour, and BOLD or DESTROYED after 48 hours, please call or come to the pound daily to check whether your pet has been picked up. This is not an up-to-date list. Mixed dogs are hard to describe. Come to the pound to see if your pet is there. Come and pick up a puppy or full grown dog to love. You would love to have a home.
Do you have unused photo equipment? In your home? Exciting dogs are brought in every hour, and BOLD or DESTROYED after 48 hours, please call or come to the pound daily to check whether your pet has been picked up. This is not an up-to-date list. Mixed dogs are hard to describe. Come to the pound to see if your pet is there. Come and pick up a puppy or full grown dog to love. You would love to have a home.
Not to worry if you've been told that you can't find a good dog. We will help you. Call 733-0000.

The Times-News Classified Department

WILL BE CLOSED JULY 2, 3 AND 4 IN OBSERVANCE OF INDEPENDENCE DAY WEEKEND. WE WILL BE OPEN AS USUAL ON TUESDAY, JULY 5.

HAVE A SAFE & HAPPY HOLIDAY WEEKEND!

